Part I.

A STORY OF GREAT SALT LAKE.

A novel, which does for Mormonism what "Uncle Tom's Cabin" did for Slavery, and "A Fool's Errand" for the Bondage of the Freedmen—swings back the doors and lets in the revealing light of day!

"Of thrilling interest."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Stained with tragedy and tears."—Boston Journal.

"Flashes of quaint humor, bright pictures of mining life, and some delightful glimpses of noble character."—Jewish Advocate.

"The story itself fires the imagination."—Literary World.

"Thrilling enough to interest the most exacting lover of fiction, while solemn enough in its facts and in its warnings to engage the attention of the most serious statesmen."—The Critic (N. Y.).

Part II.

THE HISTORY OF UTAH.

"A trustworthy history of Mormonism. . . Never have its mysteries been more skilfully unravelled, never have the sympathies of the reader been more intensely aroused."—Providence Journal.

SPURGEON'S IMMENSE WORK.

THE TREASURY OF DAVID.

By Rev. CHARLES H. SPURGEON.

VOL. I. NOW READY.

Volume I. 8vo, cloth. Price, per volume, $2.

SPURGEON'S AUTHORIZATION.—"Messrs. FUNK & WAGNALLS have entered into an arrangement with me to reprint THE TREASURY OF DAVID in the United States. I have every confidence in them that they will issue it correctly and worthily. It has been the great literary work of my life, and I trust it will be as kindly received in America as in England. I wish for Messrs. Funk & Wagnalls success in a venture which must involve a great risk and much outlay.

"C. H. SPURGEON.

"DECEMBER 8, 1881."

DATE OF ISSUE.—Volume I., issued February 28th; Volume II., April 28th, and one volume about every two months thereafter.

Dr. Philip Schaff pronounces it (and who is better qualified to pronounce judgment on such a work?) "THE MOST IMPORTANT AND PRACTICAL WORK OF THE AGE ON THE PSALMS."

Enthusiastic endorsements by such men as Dr. William Ormiston, Dr. John Hall, Dr. William M. Taylor, Dr. Jesse B. Thomas, Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler.

II.

YOUNG'S ANALYTICAL CONCORDANCE.

ONLY REVISED AND AUTHORIZED EDITION.

CAUTION.—Over 2000 corrections not found in the unauthorized American reprint.

Dr. PHILIP SCHAFF, after having personally examined, has in writing said that all these corrections appear in this edition, and that many of them are the insertions of important references, etc.

EXTRACT FROM YOUNG'S APPEAL TO THE AMERICAN CLERGY AND PUBLIC.

"This 'Concordance' may be regarded as the practical outcome of forty years' study of the Hebrew and Greek Scriptures, which I commenced in 1840 and have kept up daily ever since.

"I am not only the author, but am also the sole proprietor of the work, which has cost me thousands of pounds sterling in the printing, besides three years of labor night and day in carrying it through the press.

"In the view of these facts I cannot but trust that every right and honorable-minded Christian man and woman in the United States will prefer to all others the beautifully printed and carefully revised edition which I am now offering at the price of paper and presswork, through the medium of Funk & Wagnalls.

"ROBERT YOUNG, LL.D.

"EDINBURGH, SCOTLAND."

PRICES: 1100 quarto pages (each larger than those in Webster's Unabridged Dictionary), cloth, $3.65; sheep (blk.), $4.40; Fr. im. mor., $4.65.

III.

THE PRACTICAL CYCLOPÆDIA OF QUOTATIONS.

17,000 Quotations—50,000 Lines of Concordance.

A MOST VALUABLE REFERENCE-BOOK.

THE ACCURACY OF ALL QUOTATIONS HAS BEEN CAREFULLY VERIFIED; the authorship of each has been identified, and the place where to be found indicated. The arrangement embraces many new features, which will Make at once accessible every one of the 17,000 QUOTATIONS.

NOTES IN SEASON.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD have just received a new volume in the Bohn Library, "Tales of La Fontaine," translated from the French by Elizur Wright, with notes by J. W. M. Gibbs.

R. WORTHINGTON has just issued a new edition of his octavo Dyce's Shakespeare, to which he has added a number of full-page illustrations, making it a very neat and inexpensive volume.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have now ready H. B. Ellwanger's volume on "The Rose: its Culture, Varieties," which, coming from an experienced floriculturist, will be welcomed by all amateur as well as professional gardeners. They have also ready George Rawlinson's great work, "The History of Ancient Egypt," in two volumes, uniform with the "Ancient Monarchies" recently published by them.

LEE & SHEPARD have just ready "European Breezes," an interesting book of foreign travel, by Marie J. Pitman ("Margery Deane"); Manton's "Field Botany," a hand-book for the collector, containing instructions for gathering and preserving plants and the formation of the herbarium; a new edition of Peabody's "Conversation, its Faults and its Graces," and No. 10 of Baker's "Reading Club and Handy Speaker."

JOHN BURNS, St. Louis, Mo., has just ready a revised edition of "The Life of President Garfield," by William Ralston Balch. The whole matter has been carefully read by an intimate personal friend of the late President, and the volume contains an interesting chapter by Mrs. Dr. Edson, chief nurse to the President during his sufferings. The work is issued in cloth, full morocco, and in paper. Of the latter edition, the publisher announces, 140,000 copies were sold within 60 days of its publication.

HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

FULL of years and honors, revered by his countrymen, honored by the whole English-speaking race, admired by the great world of letters, Henry W. Longfellow is dead. It is neither our province nor intention to enter into the details of his life or of his long and successful literary career. In placing our offering on his bier, we seek simply to voice the sympathy of that great craft with which his life-work was most closely allied, and which loses, by his death, one of the purest and most productive of its living sources of interest.

As a matter of news, which receives additional importance by the fact of his death, we give below some statistics as to the sale of his works—the surest sign of his great popularity.

Nearly all of Longfellow's works have sold enormously. Twenty-five years ago Mr. Allibone found that the ones then published had circulated as follows: "Voices of the Night," 43,000 copies; "Ballads and Other Poems," 40,000; "The Spanish Student," 38,000; "The Belfry of Bruges," 38,000; "Evangeline," 37,000; "The Seaside and Fireside," 30,000; "The Golden Legend," 17,000; "Hiawatha" (it had then been out about one year and a half), 50,000; "Outre-Mer," 7500; "Hyperion," 14,550; and "Kavanagh," 10,500; or, a total of 293,000 copies for the poetical and 32,556 for the prose works, a grand total of 325,556 copies. This sale had been reached within 10 years from the date of the publication of "Evangeline," and within 19 of his first appearance with a volume of original poetry. What the sale has reached now the reader may well imagine, but it is known that the various collected editions of the poems had, in February, 1881, sold as follows: "Diamond," 110,000 copies; "Red Line," 20,500; "Household," 57,000; "Library," 6000. The German translations from him numbered 36; the Dutch, 2; the Swedish, 5; the Danish, 2; the French, 8; the Italian, 9; the Portuguese, 4; the Spanish, 1; the Polish, 3; and the Russian, Latin, Hebrew, Chinese, Sanskrit, each 1. But the statement is not complete. A careful paper in the Cambridge Tribune of March 3, 1882, states, apparently on the authority of Mr. Longfellow's publishers, that the sale of various works of his from 1839 to 1857 amounted to 325,550 volumes. From 1867 to 1881 there were sold 194,000 copies of his collected works, in four different editions. In 1881 more than 45,000 copies of his works were sold, and in the same year 15,000 copies of the "Birthday-Book," edited by Miss Bates. It is estimated that in Great Britain and Ireland not less than 30,000 copies of his books are sold annually, this being far more than of any other living poet; while in Canada his books find a greater sale than those of any other four living poets combined.

The dates of publication of his 20 separately issued volumes of poems [1839-1880] are given in the very complete "Bibliography of Longfellow," Literary World, Feb. 26, 1881. The same number also contains carefully prepared reviews of the various phases of his literary character, by T. W. Higginson, Prof. G. W. Greene, and others. The most complete list of references for the student will be found in the Providence Public Library Reference Lists, for Feb., 1882.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

In this list, the titles in brevier are direct transcriptions from books actually received, according to the rule of the American Library Association; those in nonpareil are from the best information available, and will be repeated in brevier when the book is received for registry.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (2mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); TL. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights. Where figure instead of letter symbols are used, the record is from publisher's designation, and not measurement.

Imported books are marked with an asterisk; authors' and subscription books, or books published at net prices, with two asterisks; educational books published at "wholesale" prices, with a dagger.

Acton, R. Our colonial empire. N. Y., Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co., [1882]. 192 p. T. (Cassell's Popular lib., no. 9.) cl., 50 c.; pap., 25 c.

A comprehensive account of the present condition and resources of all the various colonial offshoots of Great Britain in every quarter of the globe, and of all the British dependencies excepting India. Index.

Alexander, Mrs.— The Freres: a novel. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1882. 2+548 p. S. (Leisure hour ser., no. 134.) cl., $1.

This is a purely domestic story, based upon the joys and sorrows of a cultivated English family, who are reduced from affluence to almost poverty, and obliged to live in lodgings in London, after having occupied a charming old residence in Ireland with the children's paternal grandfather. The moving spirit of the Frere family is Miss Grace, a handsome, high-spirited girl, an account of whose numerous lovers and adventures takes up the greater part of the book. A year spent by the family in Saxony affords the author an opportunity to give a most lifelike picture of German domestic life.

Collins, Rev. W. Lucas. La Fontaine and other French fabulists. Phil., J. B. Lippincott & Co., [1882]. 8+176 p. S. (Foreign classics for English readers.) cl., $1.

This volume deals chiefly with La Fontaine, the representative fable-writer of France, and his fables; though special information is given of later fable-writers—Houdard de la Motte, Richer, Desbillons, Aubert, Le Mormier, Florian and Le Bailly. Many of their fables are quoted, their faults and merits criticised, and their originals pointed out.

Corydon (pseud.) Polly's scheme. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1882]. 207 p. D. cl., $1.

An entertaining account of Mrs. Polly Brooks' experience in running a summer boarding-house on the co-operative plan. The book is dedicated to "My cousin James T. Burdett, the humorist."

De Peyster, J. Watts. ["Anchor."] Mary, Queen of Scots: a study. [Anon.] N. Y., C: H. Ludwig, 1882. 144 p. O. pap.

This pamphlet was published only for private distribution the edition being limited to 500 copies; so greatly has it been appreciated that a new edition is forthcoming; the author has apparently made the character of Mary Stuart a profound study, and offers some original views concerning her life and acts; he divides his book into five parts—"Portraits of Mary," "Historical introduction," "Study," "James Hepburn, Earl of Bothwell" and "The lovers," Mary and Bothwell.

Giberne, Agnes. Through the Linn; or, Miss Temple's wards; [also] Only a rosebud, by Cecilia Findlay. N. Y., Robert Carter & Bros., 1882. 357 p. il. S. cl., $1.25.

A story of a young girl's first trials and sorrows; the heroine loses father and mother when only seventeen, and becomes with her little sister the ward of a Miss Temple, who, though kind and well-meaning, fails to rouse any feeling of love in her young charges; they, on their part, are reserved and unsympathetic, and selfishly fond of each other; the results are almost serious, but the book ends well and offers an excellent moral.

"This little work is written in no spirit hostile to the religious sentiment of mankind. It seeks merely to eliminate what is purely false, without foundation in fact and fictitious in Christianity as now taught. The doctrines that Jesus taught—the brotherhood of man and the condemnation of priestcraft—entitle him forever to the admiration and gratitude of his race—for he must be regarded, to do him justice, not alone a Jew, but emphatically, as he claimed for himself, the Son of Man."—Extract from author's preface.

THE LEIPSIK INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.

LEIPSIK, one of the great book-centres of the world, is moving in the direction of a proposed exhibition of an important nature, and one which should not be permitted to pass unnoticed by the representatives of book-making, and its allied branches in this country. The Leipsic publishers recognize the fact that special exhibitions in the line of their craft may be of direct and practical benefit. The excellent display lately made by the Cercle de la Librairie at Paris furnishes an additional incentive, and the matter has at last assumed definite shape in the announcement of a proposed International Exhibition of the Graphic Arts and of Book Manufacture, to be held at Leipsic in the summer of 1882. The plan as now published comprises exhibits under the following six sections:

- I. An historical exhibition showing the progress in the making of books from 1450 to 1850, and giving due prominence to such productions as even to-day may be considered models of workmanship.
- II. Typography and Printing in Relief.
 1. Typography: a. Illustrated works; b. Printing for scientific purposes; c. Printing for the people—newspapers; d. Printing for business purposes—job work.
 2. Xylography, Chemitry, Zincography, and other methods for printing on the press.
- III. Other Graphic Arts.
 1. Copper, steel, and other metal printing. Music.
 2. Lithography, Chromolithography, printing in oils.
 3. Photography and photographic methods for printing on the lithographic press.
- IV. Bookbinding in conjunction with printing. Manufacture of bookbinder's materials, leather, muslin, paste-board, bronze, etc.
- V. Manufacture of Machinery for printing purposes.
 1. Type-founding, cutting of matrix, stereotyping and the galvano-plastic process.

2. Manufacture of paper.

3. Manufacture of inks and rollers.

VI. Machinery and tools for all of the above named industries.

Such an exhibition cannot, of course, fail to exert a direct and beneficial influence on the trades for whose instruction and advancement it is designed. It will be not merely an artistic display of methods of work and of the triumphs of the printing-press and the graver's tools, but it will prove as well a real educative force upon all who are interested in the progress and perfection of all book-making aids. As such it cannot fail to possess interest for Americans, and an active participation, both as exhibitors and visitors, could scarcely fail of good results. The progress which the past few years have witnessed in the quality and carefulness of American engraving has been marked, and much of our work can justly compete with that of European artists and workmen. The sections above given indicate to what extent American exhibitors could contribute, and the opportunity is one to be seriously considered by the American trade.

Attention should be called to the desirability of forming sub-committees, as has before been successfully done by the Cercle de la Librairie, in Paris, and by the publishers of Germany, Holland, and America, at the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia. By this means it will be possible to prevent the admission of articles unfitted for exhibition and to see that the high standard necessary for the success of such a display be maintained in all its branches.

Articles for exhibition will be received up to May. Further information may be obtained from Mr. Carl B. Lorck, Goethestrasse, No. 9, Leipsic; or, from Mr. K. F. Köhler, a member of the committee, and undoubtedly well known to many publishers in the United States; his address is Poststrasse, No. 16, Leipsic.

THE INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT NEGOTIATION.

From Harper's Weekly, March 25.

THE State Department has authorized a denial of the assertion of the London Athenæum that negotiations for a copyright convention had been suspended. The department states that a project for a convention approved by leading authors and publishers was submitted to Great Britain, and that a counter-project had been submitted by Great Britain to the United States. Both projects are now in the hands of the public printer, and as soon as copies can be obtained, negotiations will be continued. The Evening Post, in commenting upon the subject, makes the singular remark that "the chief peculiarity of the present negotiations is that they constitute the first attempt to secure copyright by what may be called ostensibly secret means. When any one has ventured to inquire, what was actually being done, the leading publishers have laid their fingers mysteriously on their lips, and cried: 'Hush! hush! If you attract attention to what we are doing, you will spoil everything.'

The way to get copyright is not to let it be known what steps you are taking to get it.' At the same time, the publishers have not concealed the fact that they were engaged in securing foreign authors' rights by a treaty based on a compulsory publication of books in this country.'

We have followed the course of the project with interest and attention, but we are not aware of any mystery or secrecy in the sense suggested by the Post. The negotiation of a treaty is not generally conducted in the newspapers. But there has been no concealment—nor can we imagine any reason for such concealment—of the fact that leading American authors and publishers had each addressed a separate petition to the State Department approving the draft of a treaty which had been submitted for its consideration by an American publishing house. There has been no concealment of the fact that the principle of that treaty was approved ten years ago by leading English authors—Carlyle, Ruskin, John Stuart Mill, Darwin, Herbert Spencer, Huxley, Froude, Lubbock, John Morley, William Black, Thomas Hughes, Harriet Martineau, Lewes, Tyndall, McCarthy, Sala, and others. There has been no mystery about the fact, which was duly telegraphed, that Mr. Lowell, at the instance of Secretary Evarts, had brought the subject to the attention of the British Government, that certain specified modifications of the project had been proposed, and that Mr. Sackville-West came prepared to take up the negotiation with Secretary Blaine. The reviews and the newspapers have also taken part in the discussion, and we are not aware that anybody has had any interest or object in stifling the debate.

The projected treaty proceeds upon the principle of the English and American law that copyright is a private grant for the public benefit, and that its terms are to be determined by considerations of expediency. The copyright law in this country rests upon the clause of the Constitution which empowers Congress "to promote the progress of science and useful arts by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries." Congress must determine to what authors, and for what times, and upon what conditions, this exclusive right shall be given. Whether rightly or wrongly, the Constitution does not recognize the absolute right of an author to control forever the publication of his work. The practical question for authors, therefore, is, as Professor Huxley pointed out in his evidence before the late English Parliamentary commission upon the copyright, whether they will reject every minor and possible advantage, and insist upon nothing less than the legal concession of their absolute and indefeasible right to control publication, or whether they will obtain what they can under existing laws and constitutions. Ten years ago the English authors decided to take the latter course, and agreed that there were "strong reasons for refusing to permit the British publisher to share in the copyright which they [the Americans] are willing to grant to the British author." The proposed treaty provides for the manufacture of the English book in this country. This is not free trade, nor, under our existing tariff laws, would the English manufacture and unrestricted sale in this country be free trade. But it is an arrangement which, under simple and feasible conditions, enhances the value of such rights as the law now grants to authors. Why should not authors support such a scheme? No author relinquishes his doctrine of the absolute right of control by hearty acceptance of as much control as he can secure.

THE following telegram from Mr. Smalley appeared in the N. Y. Tribune, March 19: "The reaffirmation by The Athenæum of the practical failure of the copyright negotiations undoubtedly expresses the English Foreign Office view. The Times' telegram, while affirming that the negotiations continue, admits that the two Governments present plans radically different, and doubts whether the schemes are capable of being reconciled. Leading authors here consider that this question, although essentially an authors' and people's question, is in danger of being made mainly a publishers' question, publishers' views being allowed far too much weight with both Governments. The Athenæum declares that the American proposals, if accepted, leave British authors no better off than they are now. This also may be a publishers' view."

The following comment is from the N. Y. Evening Post: "Notwithstanding the official denial on this side of the water of the suspension of the negotiations for a copyright treaty, a despatch from London this morning again states that there is no likelihood of any convention being satisfactorily concluded. The failure of the pending negotiations would be a matter for universal regret, because it would establish the present system of international piracy on a secure footing for many years to come, if not forever. Nor is there any real excuse for its failure. The delay and trouble that have thus far arisen have come solely from the publishers insisting on confusing the question of authors' rights with protection to publishers. As the negotiations have gone on they have consequently tended less and less in the direction of a treaty to establish an international guarantee for literary property, and more and more in the direction of a trade agreement between the publishers in the United States, England, and Canada to prevent the manufacturers of books in each country from being injured in their business by the recognition of international copyright. If the publishers would consent to a treaty giving authors full right to their property without conditions of any kind, there would probably be no difficulty in arranging a convention. Some of the publishers are, we believe, beginning to see this. The failure of the present negotiations will do no American publishers any good except those engaged in piracy pure and simple."

We shall present in our next issue two of the most recent contributions to the literature of copyright, and desire to direct special attention to them, because they embody views which, both from Philadelphia, are diametrically opposed to each other. The one by Judge Tourgee, from Our Continent of March 29, is from the author's standpoint, the other, an editorial in the American of March 18, is in the radical protectionist and manufacturing interest. He who runs may read!

THE SPRING OUTLOOK.

A LIGHT market and cautious ventures will probably be the verdict of one who scans the spring announcements as noted in this number. Not that this is to be taken as an indication of slack business or of an unpromising spring trade, but rather as a forcible illustration of the fact that seems to be each year more apparent, that the bulk of new business and the pressure of new publications is steadily tending toward the fall of each year. The publishers all report plenty of work in hand, but the majority of all such contemplated ventures are reserved for "the fall trade."

We give below the spring announcements, compiled from information given by the publishers, as far as received.

THE AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION has now ready "A Fruitful Life," describing the experience and labors of its well-known and highly esteemed missionary, the late Stephen Paxson; "The Great Revival of the Eighteenth Century," by Rev. Edwin Paxson Hood, with a supplemental chapter on the Revival in America; the story here told is intensely interesting, and will have an appendix and index of contents. Also, "Songs for the Master," a selection from the poems of the late Frances Ridley Havergal; and "Worth Having; or, Old Finchley Place," by Lillian F. Wells. All these books are illustrated. The first contains excellent portraits of Mr. Paxson and the late John Adams, LL.D., and the last a picture of Yale College Campus and Alumni Hall. The Union has also in preparation "Robert Raikes Libraries," each of which will contain ten 16mo volumes of about two hundred pages each, covered with stiff paper covers, and will be issued in serial form at ten cents per volume. The books will be popular, and will meet the cry for cheap literature of a pure, healthy, vigorous tone.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY announce for the spring season the following juveniles: "Willie and Birdie," by Rosalie Gray; "Tarrypost School-girls," by A. L. Noble; "Beautiful Hands," by H. E. Brown; "Out of the Fold," by S. C. Logie; "Little Twigs," by Cousin Ella; "Frolic on a Journey," by Mrs. M. F. Butts; and "Jack; or, For Mamma's Sake," by Mrs. M. D. D. Brine. All of the foregoing will be illustrated and gotten up in the neat way for which this house has a reputation. Two other books for the older folks are under way, entitled "Tempted to Unbelief," by Rev. Dr. E. F. Burr, and a Memoir of "Ichabod Washburn."

D. APPLETON & Co. have in press and in preparation Mr. George Bancroft's new volume on the "History of the Formation of the Constitution of the United States." This important work will be in two volumes, uniform with Bancroft's History of the United States, and will be ready probably in May. Other notable works to appear are volumes two and three of Lecky's "History of England in the Nineteenth Century;" Parke Godwin's "Life and Works of William Cullen Bryant" in six volumes; Professor Huxley's "Science and Culture and other Essays;" Dr. Luys' "The Brain and its Function;" Dr. Felix S. Oswald's "Physical Education; or, The Health Laws of Nature;" Prof. Tyndall's "Essays on the Floating Matter of the Air in Relation to Putrefaction and Infection;" the sixth volume of the Classical Writers series, "Demosthenes," by S. H. Butcher; Prof. Robertson Smith's volume on "The Prophets;" an imperial quarto on "The Metropolitan Museum of Art," edited by Gen. di Cesnola; "The Bryant Birthday-book;" Prof. Hodgson's useful book on "Errors in the Use of English;" a new and careful translation, with critical notes, by Jehu Baker, of Montesquieu's "Considerations of the Causes of the Grandeur and Decadence of the Romans;" F. B. Hawley's "Capital and Population;" "Appletons' Geographical Reader," compiled by that practical educator, James Johonnot; a new book by "Uncle Remus" (J. C. Harris), "Plantation Songs and Ballads;" two new International Science volumes, "Myth and Science," by Tito Vignoli, and "Diseases of the Memory;" the ninth volume in the excellent series of Appletons' Home Books, "The Home Needle;" S. E. B. Pusey's volume on "Permanence and Evolution;" and a new song-book for school and home, entitled "The Song Wave."

HENRY CAREY BAIRD & Co. have in preparation a number of valuable scientific works covering various important branches of the industrial arts, most of which will be ready early in the spring. "The Practical Steam-Engineer's Guide," in the design, construction, and management of American stationary, portable, pumping, and steam fire-engines, injectors, etc., by Emory Edwards; "The Theory and Practice of the Preparation of Malt and the Fabrication of Beer," with especial reference to the Vienna process of brewing, translated from the German of Julius E. Thausing, by Wm. T. Brannnt; a second edition of "Mineralogy Simplified," easy methods of determining and classifying minerals, including ores, by Dr. Henry Ernst, a work of very great value, which has been entirely rewritten, enlarged, and improved; "The American Practical Dyer's Companion," comprising a description of the practical dye-stuffs and chemicals used in dyeing, their nature and uses, mordants, and how made, including five hundred receipts, of which one hundred and fifty will be illustrated by samples of the dyes, raw materials, and fabrics, by T. J. Bird; and "A Complete Practical Treatise on the Fabrication of Volatile and Fat Varnishes, Lacquers, etc.," from the German of Erwin Andres, by W. T. Brannnt.

C. W. BARDEEN, Syracuse, N. Y., have nearly ready a "Globe Manual for Schools," with explanations of the terms used in geography and astronomy, and the phenomena of mathematical geography, including temperature and ocean currents, and forty-five problems on the use of globes, with rules and illustrated examples, by F. Cheney; "Primary Helps," being the first of a new series of kindergarten manuals by W. N. Hailman; "The Declaration of Independence, Constitution of the United States, and Constitution of the State of New York," prepared from originals in the office of the Secretary of State; No. 6 of School-Room Classics, "The New Education," by Prof. Meiklejohn, of Scotland; "The International Date Line," by Henry Collins, and a "Class Record and Note-Book," by W. R. Bailey.

A. S. BARNES has in preparation a new edition of McNally's "Improved System of Geography," by James Monteith and S. T. Frost; and a new revised edition of Emma Willard's "Universal History," brought down to date, by Prof. Arthur Gilman.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. have a long list of very important announcements, some of which are well under way and will be ready in a short time, while others will appear later in the spring. Those to be published shortly are the long-expected second volume of Allen's "Practice of Commercial Organic Analysis." This volume completes the work, and is devoted especially to hydrocarbons, fixed oils and fats, sugars, starch and its isomers, alkaloids and organic bases, etc. "How to Live," by George Wilson, the eminent writer on hygiene, revised for this country by J. G. Richardson, M.D., of the University of Pennsylvania; a new and revised edition, with eight colored illustrations, of Durkee "On Gonorrhœa, Syphilis, and other Venereal Diseases, their Symptoms, Treatment, etc.," with prescriptions; a new edition of Stocken's "Dental Materia Medica;" and the new revised edition of Sutton's "Volumetric Analysis." These will be followed by a new edition of the large work by Savage "On the Female Pelvic Organs," with atlas and colored plates; Harley "On the Liver," with numerous illustrations; Spencer Wells' "Ovarian and Uterine Tumors;" Buzzard "On Diseases of the Nervous System;" a new edition of Jones' "Aural Surgery," much enlarged and fully revised; and Tilt "On Change of Life in Women in Health and Disease."

ROBERT CARTER & BROS. have just ready a six-volume edition of Hugh Miller's works, which is offered at half of the former price. They will issue, some time next month, "Sweetbriar," a tale, by Agnes Giberne; "Under the Shield," by M. E. Winchester; and a historical story by Miss Emily Sarah Holt, entitled "Ye Greene Griffin; or, Mrs. Treadwell's Cook."

CASSELL, PETTER, GALPIN & Co. have in press for immediate publication, "Moses and Geology; or, The Harmony of the Bible with Science," by Samuel Kinns; "The Simple Ailments of Horses: their Nature and Treatment," by "W. F.," late Principal and Lecturer on Veterinary Surgery, Edinburgh Veterinary College, and author of "Lessons in Horse Judging," "A Comic History of the United States," by L. Hopkins, with 75 illustrations by the author, and "American Academy Notes, 1882," which will contain illustrations of the principal pictures in the Fifty-seventh Annual Exhibition of the National Academy of Design, many of them being photo-engraved reproductions of sketches by the artists themselves. It is edited by Charles M. Kurtz. They will also add several new volumes to their Popular Library—"The Religious Revolution in the Sixteenth Century," "American Humorists," by Mox Thomas, "Notable Irishmen," by Perceval Graves, and "Notable Scotchmen," by J. M. Ross.

S. E. CASSINO, Boston, has in press "A Manual of Invertebrate Zoology, for Seaside and Laboratory Use," by Prof. W. H. Brooks. This is a complete and valuable hand-book, fully illustrated, and adapted to the use of the beginner rather than the scientist. It shows the student how to acquire a knowledge of facts for himself, preparing him for more extensive research by making him thoroughly familiar with a few types. A second edition of the "Coues' Check-List of North American Birds," with a dictionary of the etymology, orthography, and orthoëpy of the scientific names, revised to date and entirely rewritten by the author; "A Manual of Oology," by L. S. Willard; "A Manual of Entomology," with directions for collecting, preparing, and mounting insects of all orders, with illustrations, by E. P. Austin; "Bird's Nesting," by Ernest Ingersoll; "Naturalist's Assistant," by J. S. Kingsley; and a new edition of "Sea Mosses," a manual of the seaweeds of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States, by A. B. Hervey.

CLARK & MAYNARD will issue in April a "Two-Book Series of Arithmetics," by Dr. James B. Thomson; "A Hand-book of Mythology," comprising a popular account of Greek and Roman mythology, by E. M. Bevins; "A Text-book on Commercial Law," by Salter S. Clark; and a "Text-book of English Literature," by Prof. Brainerd Kellogg.

ROBERT CLARKE & Co. head their list of forthcoming publications with the important volume by Franklin B. Hough on the "Elements of Forestry," designed to afford information concerning the planting and care of forest trees for ornament and profit, and giving suggestions upon the creation and care of woodlands, with the view of securing the greatest benefit for the longest time. The work is particularly adapted to the wants and conditions of the United States. The next volume of importance is a treatise on "American Caves," by Prof. H. C. Hovey, who does justice to the subject from an historical, scientific, and descriptive point of view. Both these volumes will be illustrated. They have also in preparation an "Eclectic Manual of Phonography," an "Eclectic Reporter's Guide," and an "Eclectic Phonographic Dictionary," by Eliza Longley. In legal literature they have "A Manual for Assignees, Insolvent Debtors, and others affected by assignments, in Ohio, in trust for the benefit of creditors," with forms, notes, suggestions and full index by Florian Glauque; the second volume of "Pleadings, Parties, and Forms under the Code," adapted to the statutes of Ohio in force July, 1881, with full authorities from all States using a code, and decisions under the common law practice, by Clement Bates; "Indiana Practice Pleadings and Forms," adapted to the new revised code, with the latest authorities, in two volumes, by John D. Works; and a second edition of Edward N. Wild's "Journal Entries under the Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure of the State of Ohio, and the Acts supplementary thereto."

E. CLAXTON & Co. will have ready in a few weeks the seventeenth edition of "Trautwine's Civil Engineer's Pocket Book," and also a new edition of "Trautwine on Railroad Curves." They have in press "The Life and Letters of Mrs. Jeanette H. Platt."

T. Y. CROWELL & Co., N. Y., are about to bring out "A Home in the Holy Land." This is a finely illustrated reprint from the English, and describes with great fidelity the present as well as past life in that land of sacred interest.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have in preparation "The Confessions of a Medium." The book reveals in an autobiographical form the tricks by which deceptions are practised by professional and other mediums, and, though fully vouched for, will bear no writer's name. They also announce a volume entitled "Classics for the Million."

JAS. H. EARLE have in press: An interesting contribution to the temperance question in "The History of the Woman's Crusade," by Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer; "Indian Wars of New England," by Col. R. B. Coverly—a record of the struggles of the Pilgrim Fathers, to establish this nation; a unique and helpful little book for the household, entitled "What to Eat for Breakfast," and Prof. Morling's complete poetical works.

ESTES & LAURIAT are rapidly preparing for press "Canoe and Camera," by T. Sedgewick Steele; also "Paddle and Portage," by the same author. These are charming works on hunting and fishing in the wilds of Maine. Following these is "Camp Cookery," by Miss Parloa, an indispensable companion to those who follow in Mr. Steele's footsteps; "Coues' Check List of North American Birds," with a dictionary of the etymology, orthography, and orthoëpy of the scientific names—a work invaluable to every ornithologist; Duntzer's "Life of Goethe;" "The Epoch of Reform," by Justin McCarthy, which covers the transition period in English history, during which the representative system in Parliament and the constitutional system in monarchy became settled institutions; and a bright novel, entitled "An English Daisy Miller," by Virginia W. Johnson, author of "The Neptune Vase," may be looked for shortly. Among the other works in course of preparation and in press are: "The Slaves of Paris," another of Emile Gaboriau's fascinating "detective" stories; "The Young Folks' History of Mexico," by the author of the "History of Russia," in the The Young Folks' History series; and an édition de luxe of Thackeray's works (limited to 250 copies), which will contain 217 woodcuts from the author's sketches, two portraits, and two fine etchings to each volume. The work is being printed at the University Press at Cambridge.

FUNK & WAGNALLS add to the first volume of Spurgeon's "Treasury of David," now ready, a second volume, which is announced for publication in April. The work is one of much importance to all Bible readers. They also announce "The Diary of a Minister's Wife," by A. M. Brown (complete in one volume); "Job's Comforters," by Dr. Joseph Parker, in the Standard Series; a new edition of Young's "Bible Treasury;" a new edition of "What our Girls Ought to Know," by Mary J. Studley, M.D.; and in the way of selections and compilations they will have "The Deems' Birthday-Book," by Sarah K. Hunt; "Gems of Illustration for Dr. Guthrie's Works," by an American clergyman, and "Eastern Proverbs and Emblems," by Rev. A. Long.

GINN, HEATH & Co. will issue at once Wentworth's "Geometrical Exercises;" Halsey's "Etymology of Latin and Greek;" which presents within moderate compass the results of the latest investigations of the highest authorities; Greenough's "Special Vocabulary to Virgil's Works," which will be bound with his edition of Virgil the coming summer; White's "Illustrated Vocabulary to the Anabasis;" Knapp's "Spanish Grammar;" Wentworth's "Plane Trigonometry," "Higher Algebra," and a teachers' edition of the "Elementary Algebra," by the same author; and a "Preparatory Book of German Prose," by Hermann B. Boisen. They have in preparation a series of arithmetics for common and primary schools; "Worms and Crustacea," in their Guides for Science Teaching; "The Moral and Religious Training of Children," by G. Stanley Hall, and a number of other works of which announcement will be made later.

S. C. GRIGGS & Co. will issue April 8 a new and revised edition, from new plates, of Prof. J. Geo. Cross' "Eclectic Short-hand," writing by principles instead of arbitrary signs, for general use and verbatim reporting. In May they will issue Kant's "Critique of Pure Reason," translated and edited by Prof. George S. Morris. This will be the initial volume of a series of German Philosophical Classics for English Readers and Students, under the general editorial supervision of Geo. S. Morris, Professor of Logic, Ethics, and the History of Philosophy in the University of Michigan, and Lecturer on Philosophy at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and with the co-operation of other eminent scholars. Each volume will be devoted to the critical exposition of some one masterpiece belonging to the history of German philosophy. The aim in each case will be to furnish a clear and attractive statement of the special substance and purport of the original author's argument, to interpret and elucidate the same by reference to the historic and acknowledged results of philosophic inquiry, to give an independent estimate of merits and deficiencies, and especially to show, as occasion may require, in what way German thought contains the natural complement, or the much-needed corrective, of British speculation. It is intended that the series, when completed, shall consist of ten or twelve volumes, founded on the works of Leibnitz, Kant, Fichte, Schelling, and Hegel.

GEORGE W. HARLAN will shortly publish a German novel, entitled "Count Sylvius," by George Horn, the well-known novelist, translated by Mrs. Mary J. Safford. Mr. Harlan is also about to publish a novel of Southern life after the war, entitled "The Homestretch," abounding in character sketches, white and colored, by Miss M. A. Collins, of Tennessee. He will also publish at once a posthumous work by the late Mr. Abram C. Dayton, a collaborator of Mr. Charles King, editor of the New York American. It will be entitled "Last Days of Knickerbocker Life in New York."

HARPER & BROS. announce Alfred Barbou's work on "Victor Hugo and His Times," translated by Ellen E. Frewer, and illustrated with 120 designs by Emile Bayard, Clerget, Giacomelli, Vogel, and others, and a number of drawings by Victor Hugo engraved by Méaulle; the fourth edition revised and enlarged of Prof. Simon Newcomb's "Popular Astronomy," with 112 engravings, and five maps of the stars; "Money-making for Ladies," a convenient little manual, furnishing to women valuable advice as to means of obtaining a comfortable livelihood, by Ella Rodman Church; "The New York Volunteer Fire Department," by George W. Sheldon; "Prudence," a story of æsthetic London, by Lucy C. Lillie, illustrated by George Du Maurier; "A Treatise on the Law of Stock Brokers and Stock Exchanges," by John R. Dos Passos, of the New York bar; Rolfe's edition of Shakespeare's "Two Gentlemen of Verona" with notes; the issue of Fetridge's "Harper's Guide. Book for Europe and the East" for 1882; the "Comparative Edition of the New Testament"—comparing the Greek text of Westcott's and Hort's edition with the Revised Version; "Plain Speaking," by Mrs. Craik; a Tourists' edition of the "Heart of the White Mountains;" the second part of Thomas W. Knox's book for boys—"Hunting Adventures on Land and Sea;" or, The Young Nimrods in North America;" a new edition of Lyman Abbott's "Life of Christ;" and a new edition of Nordhoff's "California."

A. J. HOLMAN & Co. offer a new cheap and popular edition of the "People's Family Bible" to the book trade, in order to meet the demand for a cheap grade of family Bibles. They also offer an illustrated octavo edition of the revised New Testament, with other and smaller editions. Smith's Pronouncing Bible Dictionary, with many engravings, maps, etc., and many neat and new designs in photographic albums.

HENRY HOLT & Co. announce for early publication: Mrs. Alexander's new story, "The Admiral's Ward;" W. H. Norris' "Heaps of Money;" Berthold Auerbach's biographical novel "Spinoza;" the second volume of Cory's "Guide to Modern English History;" J. A. Doyle's "English Colonization of America;" the second volume of Fyffe's "History of Modern Europe;" Lady Jackson's book on "The Old Régime;" Frances Anne Kemble's "Records of Later Times;" a new and cheap edition of Goodholme's Todd's "Domestic Cyclopaedia;" Heinrich Heine's "Romantic School;" two new mathematical works by Prof. Newcomb—"Trigonometry," "Logarithmic and other Tables," and also the two works in one volume; Bernhard Ten Brink's "English Literature;" three new volumes in the Whitney-Klennm series of elementary textbooks: I., "Rudiments of German;" II., "German by Practice;" III., "Elementary German Reader;" and in the Student's Series of Classic French Plays, which Prof. Joynes is editing: Corneille's "Cinna," Molière's "L'Avare," and Racine's "Esther."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in preparation for the coming season two more volumes in the series of American Statesmen, the initial volume of which has met with the heartiest reception. The subjects of the new volumes will be "Alexander Hamilton," by Henry Cabot Lodge, and "Andrew Jackson," by Prof. William G. Sumner. In the American Men of Letters series, edited by Charles Dudley Warner, they will have a life of Henry D. Thoreau, by F. B. Sanborn, and possibly another volume during the spring. Three more volumes of the new edition of Bret Harte's complete works are under way—"Tales of the Argonauts and Eastern Sketches," "Gabriel Conroy," and "Stories and Condensed Sketches." Two new novels by Björnson—"The Fisher Maiden" and "The Bridal March"—will be added to those already issued in the American edition of the works of this charming Norwegian author. In the American Classics for Schools "Hawthorne" will be next in order. This volume comprises a biographical sketch of the author, and also notes explaining the various personal and historical allusions. To satisfy a growing demand for an arrangement of Whittier's poems adapted for school use, Josephine E. Hodgdon has complied a series of "Whittier Leaflets," which will be issued in pamphlet and leaflet form, in the same style as the Longfellow and Holmes leaflets. George Parsons Lathrop's latest story, "An Echo of Passion," familiar to readers of the Atlantic Monthly, will be issued shortly in an attractive volume, with an unique cover. Two other important volumes in preparation are, "Notable Thoughts About Women," compiled by M. M. Ballou, who has made a most interesting collection of the notable thoughts and sayings about women by writers of all nations of this and past generations; and "The Gipsies," by Charles G. Leland, who has long made a study of the gipsies of this and other countries, and has enjoyed peculiar opportunities for pursuing his investigations. A new edition of the "Satchel Guide to Europe," revised for 1882, and the sixth volume of "Gynecological Transactions," giving the transactions of the American Gynecological Society for 1880, are also under way. In addition to the foregoing, they have in preparation an édition de luxe of "English and Scottish Popular Ballads," edited by Prof. Francis J. Child, of Harvard. It is proposed to publish the ballads, so far as it is possible, in their entirety and purity. The collection will embrace every accessible independent version of every ballad, with the important variations of copies which appear to be of the same proximate derivation. The work will have a general introduction, full indexes, and a careful glossary. It will be issued in about eight parts, and sold only to subscribers—the edition being strictly limited to one thousand copies.

WILLIAM R. JENKINS, New York, has nearly ready Dr. Hill's new work on "Bovine Pathology," which will be published simultaneously with its issue in London, at $10, retail. It will be a large octavo of nearly eight hundred pages, and will be illustrated with several hundred woodcuts and plates expressly prepared for the work. Later on he will publish Fleming's new work on "Veterinary Surgery," for which there is already a constant demand, and which will doubtless prove to be the most important contribution to veterinary literature and science in the English language.

ORANGE JUDD CO. have just ready a practical treatise on "Sweet Potato Culture," by James Fitz, containing full instructions from starting the plants to harvesting the crop; "The Chemistry of the Farm," by R. Warrington, who treats the relations of chemistry to agriculture in as popular a manner as is possible; and a new, revised, and enlarged edition of "Peach Culture," by J. A. Fulton. They have in press "The Life and Writings of Frank Forester (Henry William Herbert)," edited by David W. Judd, with a memoir of his life by Col. Thos. E. Picton. The work will be complete in two volumes, of which the first will be issued late in March and the second some time in April.

LEE & SHEPARD have a number of new books under way, but are only able to announce a few of them at present, and these chiefly new editions. They are preparing a new uniform edition of Col. T. W. Higginson's works, which will include "Army Life in a Black Regiment," "Atlantic Essays," "Out-Door Papers," and "Malbone;" new editions of "The Stars and the Earth," or, thoughts upon space, time and eternity, with an introduction by Thomas Hill, and "Human Life in Shakespere," by Henry Giles, with an introduction by John Boyle O'Reilly; a new library edition of Wendell Phillips' "Speeches and Lectures," and a new edition of his "Scholar in a Republic," with an appendix containing his "Plan of Civil Service Reform;" also a new edition of "The Life of Horace Mann," by his wife, and of "Taxidermy without a Teacher."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co. are actively pushing forward their new publications for the spring, and Ouida's "In Maremma," though announced some time ago, will be among the first to appear. It is a story of Italian life, and is written in that fascinating style peculiar to Ouida, and which makes her work so popular. About the same time a new translation from the German by Mrs. Wister will appear, entitled "From Hand to Hand." The author, Galo Raimund, is a rising German writer, and his previous work, "A New Race," also translated by Mrs. Wister, had a large sale. A little later than these will be published "Brushland," by John Darby. This is a philosophical work, the true character of which can be better judged by the mention of the author's previous works, "Odd Hours of a Physician," "John Darby," "John Darby Hours," etc. John Darby is the nom-de-plume assumed by Dr. J. E. Garretson, an eminent surgeon of Philadelphia (whose great work on "Oral Surgery" is published by this house), and who has occupied his spare moments in getting down his thoughts on various topics; "Brushland" is his last effort in this direction. The two very important branches of the sciences, astronomy and microscopy, will be separately treated on by George E. Davis, in a work entitled "Practical Microscopy," with over 257 woodcuts and a colored frontispiece; and Prof. G. M. Phillips and Prof. Isaac Sharpless, "A Text-book of Astronomy," which will be profusely illustrated, concludes the announcements for the present.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have in preparation "A Complete Digest of the United States Supreme Court Decisions, from its Organization to 1882 Inclusive," in two octavo volumes; and a "Table of Cases Argued and Adjudged in the Supreme Court of the United States, from its Organization to the Present Day," in one volume.

D. LOTHROP & Co. will publish during April "The Pettibone Name," a New England story, by Margaret Sidney, "Some Young Heroines," by Pansy, from whose pen a new book is ever welcome; "Rocky Ford," a sweet and merry new story for little women, by Mary Hartwell Catherwood; "Hunting and Trapping," a narrative of six months in winter camp right in the unbroken solitudes and snows of the northernmost Maine woods, by Captain F. C. Barker and J. S. Danforth; "After the Freshet," a new bright story, by Rev. Edward A. Rand; and "The Afterglow of European Travel," a pleasant record of experiences abroad and a detailed description of those things which have made the most lasting impressions on the writer's mind, by Adelaide L. Harrington. They have about ready "The Life and Editorial Success of Horace Greeley," by Dr. Wm. M. Cornell; "Life and Writings of Charles Dickens," by Phebe A. Hanaford; "Originality," by Rev. Elias Nason, a reply to Wendell Phillips' "Lost Arts," and

"A Fortunate Failure," by Caroline B. Le Row, a successful writer of magazine stories.

JAMES MILLER has in preparation an Elizabeth Barrett Browning Birthday-book, by R. H. Stoddart. It will contain excerpts from her early, late, and posthumous poems, from her papers on the old Greek Christian Poets, her letters to Richard Hengist Home, author of "Orion," "The Death of Marlowe," "Gregory the Seventh," "The New Spirit of the Age," and "Ballads and Romances," and from her letters to a once famous American writer.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS will issue shortly a "Parallel New Testament," containing the version of 1611 arranged in parallel columns with the revised version of 1881. The volume will contain full marginal notes and all the prefatory matter of the revised New Testament, together with the list of readings and renderings preferred by the American Committee. It will be issued in three sizes, octavo, twelvemo, and sixteenmo, and in a variety of bindings. They have just ready an interesting volume for girls, entitled "Noble Women of Our Time," by Joseph Johnson. The volume contains sketches of Miss Agnes Jones, Mary Lyon, "Sister Dora," Francis Ridley Havergal, Catherine Tait, Baroness Bunsen, Mrs. Augustus W. Hare, and a number of lesser known but yet equally noble women.

JAMES R. OSGOOD & Co. will issue at once "A War Diary of Events in the War of the Great Rebellion, 1863-1865," by Gen. George H. Gordon. This will be a vigorous chronicle by an eye-witness of events on the Potomac and James, and around Richmond, in South Carolina and Florida, up the Mississippi River, and in Mobile Bay. They have also nearly ready a new edition of Robert Grant's fascinating society novel, "Confessions of a Frivolous Girl," which lays bare the amusing secrets of metropolitan social life. They have several important works under way and in press, but have not as yet arranged schedule of times of publication. Among those which will soon appear are Clara Erskine Clement's "Biography of Charlotte Cushman," in the American Actor series; "Dorothea," the tenth Round-Robin novel; and a new "Guide-book to the Azores; also a "Pocket-Guide to Europe," with maps, etc.

T. B. PETERSON & BRO. have nearly ready "The Annals of a Baby," a companion to "Helen's Babies," by Sarah Bridges Stebbins, and "La Faustine," a novel in real life, by Edmond De Goncourt. "Mrs. Mayburn's Twins" is in its second edition; "Monsieur Le Ministre" in its fourth edition; Zola's "Mysteries of the Court of Louis Napoleon" in its sixth edition, and "A Child of Israel" in its second edition.

PHILLIPS & HUNT have in press the "Lives of the Methodist Bishops," edited by Drs. Theodore L. Flood and John W. Hamilton; "Heroic Methodists of the Olden Time," by Dr. Daniel Wise; an autobiography of Dr. Luther Lee; the seventh volume in the Commentary on the Old Testament, edited by Dr. D. D. Whedon—comprising the books of Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Lamentations, by Drs. Henry Bannister and F. D. Hemenway; "Christian Work and Consolation," by Abel Stevens; "Life of Captain John Smith," a book for young people, by Dr. Charles K. True; and "Boys and Girls," and "Three Successful Lives," in the Ben and Bertie series.

PORTER & COATES will soon publish "Marion Berkley," a story for girls, by Laura Caxton; "Hartwell Farm," by the same author; and "Pique," a tale of the English aristocracy "George at the Fort," the concluding volume of the Roughing It series by Harry Castlemon, will soon be ready. They have in press "Three in Norway," by Two of Them, with a map, and numerous illustrations engraved on wood by G. H. Ford, from original sketches. It is described as "a book full of lively 'chaff'—not vulgar—and vastly entertaining." In addition to these they have also in press Dr. Freeman's new work, "The English People in their Three Homes, and the Practical Bearings of General European History."

JAMES POTT has in preparation the fourth volume of Geikie's "Hours with the Bible," which will cover the kings and prophets to Hezekiah; Canon Row's last book, "Apostolic Christianity;" "The Coming of the Angel," a beautiful book for the Easter season; "The Bible: a Scientific Revelation," by Rev. C. C. Adams, author of "Creation: a Recent Work of God;" "Deep unto Deep," being an inquiry into some of the deeper experiences of the Christian life, by Sir Emilius Bayley, D.D.; "English Church History for American Children," by the Rev. Robert Lowrie; and Dr. Francis L. Hawks on the "Constitution and Canons of the Church in America," brought down to date by the Rt. Rev. Wm. Stevens Perry, D.D., Bishop of Iowa.

THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION have under way, "Living Christianity; or, Old Truths Restated," by the Rev. Leroy J. Halsey, D.D., which is a statement of the principles and truths of Christianity, both doctrinal and practical; "Calvin and His Enemies," a memoir of the life, character, and principles of John Calvin, by the Rev. Thomas Smyth, D.D.; "What is Presbyterian Law as Defined by the Church Courts?" by the Rev. J. Aspinwall Hodge, D.D., which presents in a form of question and answer, not individual views or theories, but Presbyterian law as defined by church courts; and "David Livingstone," the story of one who followed Christ, by L. S. Houghton. Nearly thirty years ago, "A Pastor's Sketches," in two series, was given to the public by the late Ichabod S. Spencer, D.D., and attracted a great deal of attention at the time. A new generation has arisen, to whom these books will be useful. The "Sermons," by the same author, will be published in three volumes, "Practical," "Doctrinal," and "Sacramental." The plates of both these works have been secured by the Board. They have just published a cheap 16mo Sabbath-school Library, No. 1, which contains forty first-class books in a case for $25 net.

GEORGE P. PUTNAM'S SONS will issue some time in April "Thomas à Kempis, and the Brothers of Common Life," By Rev. J. Kettlewell. The work will be in two volumes, and will give the particulars of the life of this devout man gathered from various sources, together with an account of the religious society in which he was reared, and of which he became an enthusiastic member. Another volume in the Literary Life series, edited by William Shepard, entitled "Pen Pictures of Authors," which will contain lively descriptions and recollections of men and women noted in literature. "A History of the Naval War of 1812-14," by

Theodore Roosevelt. The volume of the Hon. S. S. Cox, entitled "Pole to Pyramid, by Way of Palestine," the title of which has been wrongly announced in many journals as "From Po to Pyramid," which will contain twenty-four illustrations, finely engraved on wood, and will be somewhat similar in general appearance to the first work of the same author, "Search for Winter Sunbeams." "A Treatise on the Science and Practice of Medicine; or, The Pathology and Therapeutics of Internal Diseases," by Prof. A. B. Palmer. "The Student's Manual of Diseases of the Skin," by Dr. L. D. Bulkley. In addition to the foregoing they will also issue, probably next month, "Putnam's Library of Travel," already noticed in the WEEKLY; the first volume of a Science Ladders series, edited by N. D'Anvers; "The Geological and Mineral Resources of the James River Valley of Virginia," by Dr. J. L. Campbell; "The Creation and the Scriptures: Revelations of God," by Gilbert Chichester Monell; "The Principles of Ethics," by Leslie Stephens; and "Currency; or, The Fundamental Principles of Monetary Science Postulated, Explained and Applied," by Hugh Bowlby Willson. They have nearly ready for publication a volume on the "Sunday Question," by the Rev. Leonard W. Bacon, of Norwich, Conn. Contrary to the alleged antecedents of the author, it is said to treat the subject from a liberal point of view. They also announce "The Defence of the Bride, and other Poems," by Anna Catharine Green, author of "The Leavenworth Case." The next volume in the Transatlantic series will be "Lady Beauty; or, Charming to Her Latest Day," by Allen Muir. The next volume in the New Plutarch series will be "Victor Emmanuel and the Forming of the Italian Kingdom," by Edward Dicey. Sarah Tytler has also in preparation for this series a "Life of Marie Antoinette."

ROBERTS BROTHERS have in preparation Philip Gilbert Hamerton's latest and most important work, "The Graphic Arts," which will have a preface written specially for the American edition by the author; an interesting volume, entitled "A Parisian Year," by Henry Bacon, who will also illustrate the volume. Mr. Bacon is a Boston artist who has resided in Paris for many years, and his book is a chatty record of how one may be supposed to exist in Paris, from January to December, from the standpoint of the author's own personal experience. Beside these they also announce a volume of "Sonnets and Canzonets," by A. Bronson Alcott, with an essay on the sonnet by F. B. Sanborn; "Onesimus: Memoirs of a Disciple of St. Paul," by the author of "Philochristus;" a "Jean Ingelow Birthday-book;" "Proverb Stories," by Louise M. Alcott; and "The Great Epics of Mediæval Germany," by G. T. Dippold.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will shortly issue the long-expected "Life of Carlyle," by Mr. Froude, which is to be published simultaneously in London and New York; John Bigelow's "Molinis the Quietist," a sketch of one of the methods by which the Jesuits and the Inquisition crushed out schism; Keary's "Outlines of Primitive Belief," an interesting historic inquiry into the beliefs of the Indo-European races; the seventh volume of the Campaign series, "The Army of the Cumberland," by Gen.

Cist; "The Story of Sevenoaks," "The Bay Path," and "Arthur Bonnicastle," in the new edition of Dr. Holland's works, and also a volume of the "St. Giles Lectures," entitled the "Faiths of the World."

SCRIBNER & WELFORD announce a new and choice edition of John Hill Burton's "The Book-Hunter," with a copious index, a memoir of the author, a portrait, numerous illustrations, and ornamental devices; the edition is limited, and paper, printing, and binding are of special excellence. They also have nearly ready a valuable work on "Greek and Roman Sculpture," by W. C. Perry, with many illustrations; four volumes in a new series of hand-books of practical art, viz.: "Art Work in Earthenware," in "Gold and Silver (mediæval)," in "Porcelain," and in "Gold and Silver (modern);" a new edition of D'Anver's "Elementary History of Art, Architecture, Painting, Sculpture, Music, etc.," and a new edition of Dean Stanley's "Westminster Abbey," embodying the author's last corrections.

W. B. SMITH & Co. have in preparation the following additions to their Satchel series: "Hoffenstein," a humorous exposition of a worldly-wise New England deacon, by Joe C. Aby; "John Morton, M.D.," a novel, by Alvin C. Campbell; "Aftermath," a volume of sketches of travel in Europe, by Mrs. Buckhout; and "Young Disciple," a novel. They have about ready Catherine Stuart's "Complete Cook-book," and "Circumstantial Evidence," a novel, by Alice Irving Abbott.

E. & F. N. SPON announce for speedy issue Dr. Paget Higgs' paper on "Candle Power of the Electric Light," and Mr. Killingworth Hedges' work on "Useful Information on Electric Lighting," both books of practical value on a subject of live importance.

HENRY A. SUMNER & Co., Chicago, will publish April 22, in the Hammock series, "Collen Rue," by Toler King, a story of the higher classes of Ireland and England, which is promised to be "very attractive." On May 20, they will issue in the same series a new novel, entitled "A Sane Lunatic," by the author of "No Gentlemen," which was one of the most popular novels last summer.

PETER G. THOMSON, Cincinnati, will issue at once "The Second Battle of Bull Run, as connected with the Fitz-John Porter Case," by Jacob D. Cox, late Major-General commanding the 23d Army Corps. Mr. Thomson has just issued an interesting brochure on the "History of the Water Supply of the World," arranged in a comprehensive form from eminent authorities by Thomas J. Bell, Assistant Superintendent of the Cincinnati Water-works.

D. VAN NOSTRAND has in preparation an important work, entitled "Magnet and Dynamo-Electric Machines—their construction, and practical application to electric lighting and transmission of power," by Dr. H. Schellen. The work has been translated into English by N. S. Keith, a prominent electrician, and has been adapted to American practice. It has also been made still more valuable to Americans by the addition of full notes by the American editor. The work has already passed through two editions in the original and in a French translation.

JOEL WHITE, Montgomery, Ala., will publish

July 1 the third volume of Brickell's "Digest," in the same style of his other volumes, embracing all the decisions of the Alabama Supreme Court from the 44th to the 64th volume inclusive. The 65th volume of the Alabama Reports will be published by the first of May. The 66th and 67th volumes are in the reporter's hands, and will soon be published.

WHITE & STOKES announce as in preparation a novelty in summer books in the shape of "Summer Gleanings," by Rose Porter. To each day of the summer months has been given an appropriate selection in somewhat the style of the birthday-book. On each page of the book a space for pressed flowers, another for daily jottings, and a third for pen or pencil sketch have been left, and the paper is of a character suitable for these. The book will be bound in several attractive styles.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has nearly ready a volume of sermons by Dr. Cross, "Knight Banneret and other Sermons," and one by Dr. Alex. Crummell, with the title, "The Greatness of Christ" (Dr. Crummell is an Oxford graduate, the rector of St. Luke's Church in Washington, and a colored man, and his volume is the first volume of sermons by a colored preacher yet published); Rev. R. S. Barrett's talks to young men on "Character Building;" "Hither and Thither in the Mother Land," by Dr. William Stevens Perry; and "An Undeveloped Chapter in the Life of Christ," by Treadwell Walden, treating of the translation of the word "Metauvia," "lost" or "unrecovered," as used in the old and in the revised versions.

JOHN WILEY & SONS have in active preparation an important volume on "Fire Protection of Mills," by C. J. H. Woodbury. The author discusses the best methods to prevent conflagrations in cotton, flour, and other mills; the construction of floors and proportioning of floor beams; and electric light and its application to mills. Among the works nearly ready may be mentioned the long-promised revised edition of Henry Drinker's valuable work on "Tunnelling, Explosive Compounds, and Rock Drills;" the appendix to Dana's New System of "Mineralogy," bringing the work down to 1882; a revised and enlarged edition of Wm. A. Norton's "Astronomy," with new tables, bringing the work forward to 1895; and a revised and enlarged edition of Wood's "Elements of Analytical Mechanics." They also expect to issue an Electric Light book, an epitome of all the latest discoveries in the field of this science. It will be in two volumes, with over 300 illustrations.

A. WILLIAMS & Co., Boston, announce a new edition of Owen Innsly's poems, which have sprung at once into such wide reputation. "Cape Cod Folks" goes into its eleventh edition, as will, no doubt, the interesting suit to which it has given rise. They have also in preparation a "Walking Guide to the White Mountains," by a member of the Appalachian Club.

WILLIAM WOOD & Co. have in course of preparation a number of valuable medical works, which are so bewildering in numbers and cover such a wide field, that we must refer our readers for full information regarding them to the department headed "Medical Science," in the list of spring announcements, where they will all be found together under the publisher's name, with the titles given in full.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & CO. have in press "The Camp on the Severn," a tale of the tenth persecution in Britain, by the Rev. A. D. Crake; "St. John Damascene," a new volume in the Fathers for English Readers, by Rev. J. H. Lupton; the second and concluding volume of "The Reformation in England," by Rev. J. H. Blunt; and "The Lads and Lasses of Langby," by Charlotte M. Yonge.

ON CHEAP BOOKS.

From the Present Age, Feb. 9.

THE book publishing trade of the United States is represented by nearly two hundred publishing houses or firms, who carry upon their catalogues tens of thousands of volumes, many of them purely original American books. The increasing activity of the publishing business indicates the growing intelligence and education of the people, and the improvement in the character of American literature is no less marked than the superiority of our books in a mechanical and artistic sense. Good books, tasteful and elegant in construction and appearance, are sold in this country cheaper than elsewhere in the world, and it is believed that Americans are larger bookbuyers than other peoples for several obvious reasons. Be this as it may, however, it is a well-known fact that all classes of the people in this country buy and read books to a considerable and increasing extent, and that the teaching of the public schools is supplemented by the knowledge attainable from books. This popular tendency is the inciting cause of the enterprise of our publishers, who have adopted the policy of large sales and small profits, rather than the exclusive theory of English publishers, that the common people will not buy books, and that high prices must be placed upon small editions. Our publishers have also taken pride in stimulating such mechanical improvements and inventions as have cheapened the processes of book-making, while rendering the ordinary book an artistic production. Notwithstanding their successful efforts in these directions, there is a class of persons who are not satisfied, and who have a book hobby to ride. They contend that American literature is in the hands of monopolists, who cheat the public at every turn. As an illustration of this class, we may mention the "American Book Exchange," whose failure was a recent occurrence. Its manager published a good many books, mostly pirated editions, and advertised them at a price that would hardly pay for the paper they are printed on. Of course, they were the result of cheap mechanical methods throughout, were full of errors, and few of them in any respect creditable specimens of American books. The failure of the concern was inevitable, though a considerable number of people were "taken in" by its representations. Another "cheap" firm, which prints standard 12mo editions of histories, biographies, etc., recently brought out a 12mo book, in which a comparison with the regular edition of the same work published by another house disclosed some 660 errors, some of them very bad and annoying. No person of literary or scholarly tastes would care to have such a book in his library, even were it a gift. No amount of "cheapness" can excuse such a publication. The poorest people may have a degree of pride which would lead them to refuse it admission to their house. In the character of children's books, there has been a great improvement. The current catalogues show a bewildering variety of finely illustrated publications, designed to instruct and amuse the juvenile world. Compare in price and quality these books with the "cheap and nasty" editions of the slop-shops, in which the coloring, the print, the binding, and the entire make-up disclose the sham as visibly as if it were branded upon the books themselves, and the plea of cheapness is at once understood. Such books are dear at any price.

Cheap literature is an American characteristic; but books are not cheap that do not fulfil the conditions established by the best publishers in respect to their mechanical as well as literary features. If the American publisher is to-day successful and prosperous, he has not only to thank the intelligence of the average citizen, but to take credit to himself for representing correctly the literary tendencies and artistic requirements of the age and country. If the bookbuying public will discriminate closely in regard to the features noted above, they may save themselves annoyance and disgust as well as money. We are glad to note that a tendency in this direction is showing itself, especially in the refusal of the shabby books often imposed upon railroad travellers. Let every person to whom such books are offered, firmly refuse them, and they will soon be numbered with other useless historical reminiscences. Demand as perfect and pleasing work from your bookseller as from your house furnisher, and the era of cheap, shabby books will have vanished.

From the Hour.

Book publishing is flowing back into its old and normal channels. Before the civil war legitimate publishers made money by selling books which were written by authors of repute at poor prices. Toward the close of the civil war, books like the "Nurse and the Spy," "Greeley's History," and similar works, sold in immense quantities for very high figures. This was due to the adoption of the subscription system; by fixing a price that gave a profit to the canvasser of $2 per work, enormous editions of pretentious looking, but worthless, works were literally forced upon the reading public. In the olden times a publisher was satisfied if he sold five thousand volumes of a dollar and a half or two-dollar publication; but the high-priced trash issued by the Hartford publishers often reached enormous totals, a hundred thousand being very frequently sold through their system of canvassers.

But even the bucolic bookbuyer revolted against the wiles of the "book-agent, and then came the era of cheap publications. Instead of trash from $5 to $8 a volume, the best books in the language were published for from ten to fifteen cents apiece, but the issues were in a shape which could not be preserved. It is now obvious that the cheap era has come to an end. Hereafter, books will be published as of yore, at a price which will give a fair profit to the publisher and leave something for the author.

From the Literary World.

Whether to the joy or not of the publishers we do not presume to say, but the last year was signalized by a movement in the direction of cheap books which is not likely soon to be lost sight of. The Messrs. Harper's Franklin Square Library in this country had already begun an innovation in the circulation of literature which was widely felt; and just at the end of the year some London publishers took a step in advance even of that which is to lead one knows not where. This step was the issue of standard works in sixpenny form, most of them illustrated. A beginning was made with Lady Brassey's "Voyage of the Yacht Sunbeam," next by Sir Frederick Martin's "Life of the Prince Consort," and these have been followed by "The Ingoldsby Legends," Capt. Burnaby's "Ride to Khiva," J. G. Wood's "Strange Dwellings," Major Whyte-Melville's "Kate Coventry," "Mrs. Caudle's Curtain Lectures," by Douglas Jerrold, and Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe." In this cheap style these eight works have been sold by many thousands. We are inclined to the opinion that, without seriously affecting the sales of standard books in more desirable and expensive editions, there is here opened to publishers an entirely new field of lucrative enterprise. Such books will not suit rich buyers, of whom there will always be a plenty; but they will create a demand in unlooked-for quarters.

STATIONERY NOTES.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. call attention to the fact that they have now ready samples of Eyre & Spottiswoode's and Thomas Stevens' lines of Christmas cards for 1882. Many of the designs are from the Dudley Gallery exhibition, and are remarkable for brightness and originality. They have also a new line of silk-woven goods.

WHITE & STOKES have just ready two neat designs in decorated note-paper which are certain of becoming favorites with the "aesthetes." They are finely cut daisies—the one design a trifle larger than the other—in silver with a gold centre; the smaller one is in silver also, but with a dark centre, and has a somewhat "fleshy" spider in bronze suspended from the stem. They also show a new and convenient box for paper and envelopes, in which both are kept separate, and are easily handled.

R. R. & A. G. BROWN, 50 Beekman St., although as yet a young firm, are beginning to be known in the trade as importers and manufacturers of fine stationery, Christmas, Easter, and Birthday cards. They have just now on hand a very beautiful assortment of imported panel-pictures—figures, flowers, etc.—lithographed and colored in a most effective style; also some original designs in Easter cards—one of artificial violets and rosebuds, tied with white satin ribbon to a white card, being especially noticeable and elegant. Among new designs of paper-stationery, they have note-paper with four designs to each quire, of figures from Patience, some in colors, and others simply in outline; miniature pictures of the four seasons in steel engravings; dogs' heads in gold and bronze, and very graceful hand-painted designs.

L. PRANG & Co.'s new designs in Easter cards will no doubt be hailed with delight by all lovers of the beautiful, whatever their sentiments may be. In addition to some charming floral and children groups, to which such artists as Miss Fidelia Bridges, Mrs. O. E. Whitney, Miss L. B. Humphrey, and Miss Rosina Emmet have contributed, they have issued this year a series of two designs by Thomas Moran, entitled "The Sun of Righteousness," and "The New Jerusalem," two elegant cards which are most elaborately trimmed with a combination of silk, silk cord and tassels, and silk fringe, of a new pattern. All the cards are finished in the most delicate manner, and are made up in the usual styles of single and double card, single and double fringed, and some on heavy mounts and scented. They have also issued a new edition of last year's Easter Dove, which was so popular then that they could not supply the demand.

EVANS, PLUMMER & Co. commence business with most commendable enterprise. The office of the firm, at 57 Beekman Street, is very attractively fitted up, the furniture being a striking combination of the latest Eastlake and Japanese styles of decoration. Their specialties are to be in the line of fine stationery and artistic specialties, and they have already made an excellent beginning in some attractive designs, in writing-paper, menu and guest cards. Particular care has been expended on their papeteries, some very fine work in stamping being shown in one and two colors of bronzes. They have a new copyrighted design in writing-paper and correspondence cards, on the upper left-hand corner of which are stamped bars of music from some well-known and appropriate air. Those already used are from "Home, Sweet Home," "You'll remember me," and "Auld Lang Syne." Mention should also be made of the unique bridal, birthday, and Easter offerings, mostly floral designs in panel form, painted on satin and mounted for hanging on the wall, or for purposes of decoration. All the work thus far offered by this new house is elaborate and artistic, and speaks well for the discriminating efforts of these new caterers to the popular fancy.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—J. H. Bufford's Sons opened on March 1 a branch office at 180 Wabash Avenue, for the accommodation of the Western trade. R. J. Lester is manager and is for the present assisted by Geo. H. Davis, of the New York office, and Henry Turner, of the Boston house. A full line of all the firm's goods, can be had at the new office.

CINCINNATI, O.—Leslie Webb has been admitted to the firm of Mallory & Webb, booksellers and stationers.

NEW YORK CITY.—Wm. R. Spinney, formerly with D. Lothrop & Co., has bought the book and stationery business of Henry Gurley, at the corner of 23d St. and 4th Ave. Mr. Spinney will continue to act as traveller for D. Lothrop & Co.

NEW YORK CITY.—The store of Van Kleeck, Clarke & Co., 234 and 236 Broadway, dealers in stationery and fancy goods, was burned on Tuesday night, March 14; loss about $15,000.

NORRISTOWN, PA.—A. S. Pomeroy & Co., booksellers and stationers, are selling out.

NORWICH, N. Y.—Barber & Whitcomb, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

OBERLIN, O.—E. J. Goodrich, bookseller and stationer, has been burned out. Loss estimated at $18,000; insured for $8000.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—Thos. S. Gray, formerly a partner in the firm of Des Forges & Co., will shortly start in the stationery and book business at Milwaukee, Wis.

ST. IGNACE, MICH.—F. E. Pilcher & Co. have started a store in this growing place for the sale of books, stationery, and wall-paper, and desire catalogues, price-lists, and circulars from publishers, manufacturers, and jobbers.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

E. CLAXTON & Co. report Dr. Seiss' new work, "The Gospel in the Stars," as having reached the sale of over one thousand copies.

J. W. BOUTON will publish immediately the fifth thousand of Madame Blavatsky's "Isis Unveiled." This edition will contain a new portrait.

WM. T. AMIES calls attention to the fact that he intends closing out his remainders of popular standards, Bibles, and photograph albums at the coming Spring Trade Sale.

RUFUS BLANCHARD writes and publishes at Wheaton, Ill., a thick octavo of verses entitled "Abraham Lincoln, the Type of American Genius," with portrait of Lincoln.

"THE American Almanac and Treasury of Facts for 1882," edited by A. R. Spofford, Librarian of Congress, is out. It is the most complete compendium of statistical, financial, and political information published in this country.

A BIOGRAPHY of the late Dr. Leonard Bacon is contemplated by his family, and letters or other documents which might aid in its preparation are requested to be sent to the Misses Bacon, 247 Church Street, New Haven, Conn. They will be returned if desired.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. have just ready the second edition of "Sermons to the People," by Canon Liddon; "Freaks and Marvels of Plant Life; or, Curiosities of Vegetation," by M. C. Cook; and "The Rival Heirs"—the third and last chronicle of Æscudune—by Rev. A. D. Crake.

S. R. WINCHELL & Co. have recently issued No. 1 of "School Songs," by Prof. H. W. Fairbank, comprising songs and music for primary grades; also, the first part of a series of "Graded Language Exercises," the object of which is to furnish drill in the proper use of special words as aids to correct speaking and writing.

CHAS. SOTHERAN, nephew of Henry Sotheran, of London, and formerly of the editorial staff of the Star, is at present engaged with Geo. A. Leavitt & Co. as cataloguer. The catalogues of the libraries of James W. Vroom, Louis Durr, Wm. B. Lawrence, John A. Riston, and Senator Matt Carpenter have been compiled under his supervision.

CHAIN & HARDY, Denver, Col., will issue at once the fifth revised edition of Morrison's "Mining Rights," which has been brought up to date, with federal and state legislation, and land office rulings and judicial decisions. Among other things, the set of forms on Application for Patent are given as now used, to meet the latest changes.

MR. WILLIAM ANDREWS, honorary secretary of the Hull Literary Club, has in press a new work, entitled "Typographical Curiosities."

W. L. ALLEN & Co., London, have in press a volume of plays and dramatic scenes suitable for private theatricals, by Mr. Martin F. Tupper, the well-known author of "Proverbial Philosophy."

A NEW edition of the "Memoirs of William Hazlitt," by his grandson, W. C. Hazlitt, will shortly be published in London. The errors of the former edition have been corrected, and fresh correspondence has been added.

THE monograph on Henry Fielding, in the English Men of Letters series, is to be written by Austin Dobson. The volume on Keats is to be the work of Professor Colvin, and that on Jeremy Taylor will be written by Professor Jowett. The monograph on Macaulay has just been completed by its author, Frederic Harrison.

MR. GALLENGA'S new work will be entitled "A Summer Holiday in Russia." He has devoted considerable attention to the Jewish question. The work will contain chapters on Odessa, Kieff, and Warsaw, to each of which the author will add an appendix recording his views on the subject of the outrages perpetrated on the Jews in those cities.

SIR CHARLES MACGREGOR'S forthcoming work on Baluchistan, which is edited during his absence in India by Mr. A. N. Wollaston, will be specially interesting from the fact that it will include his exploration of the route from the Mekran coast through Baluchistan to Sindh, which has been a terra incognita to Europeans since the days of Alexander.

"LAST week," says the London Academy, "instead of announcing that Mr. A. J. Munby's charming idyllic poem, 'Dorothy,' was to be reprinted by the Robertses, of Boston, U. S. A., we might have said that it had been reprinted, for, before our paragraph appeared, the reprint had reached England; and a very handsome little quarto it is, quite putting to shame its original published here."

"THE recent venture of certain London publishers in the issue of sixpenny paper editions of popular books," says the Boston Transcript, "shows that even in the matter of publishing our English cousins may with profit borrow an American idea occasionally. In size and shape they are quite similar to those of the Franklin Square Library; but the American models have been improved upon by the addition of a cover, clearness of printing, and attractive woodcuts."

DAVID BOGUE, London, has published an important volume for those interested in horse-flesh, entitled "Horse Warranty," by Peter Howden. It is described as a plain and comprehensive guide to the various points to be noted, showing which are essential and which are unimportant. He also announces for early issue "A Hand-book to the Industries of the British Isles and the United States," by Mr.

J. Phillips Bevan; "Claimants to Royalty," by Mr. J. H. Ingram; "Sparks from the Philosopher's Stone," by Mr. J. L. Busford; and "Dramatic Notes for 1881-82."

M. ERNEST DAUDET, the historian, and brother of the celebrated novelist, Alphonse, has just published (Paris: Plon) a little volume telling the story of the youthful days of the two brothers. It is entitled "Mon frère et moi: Souvenirs d'Enfance et de Jeunesse." The future biographer of M. Alphonse Daudet will find nothing left for him to do.

THE ART PUBLISHING CO., Toronto, announce that they will publish by subscription an illustrated work entitled "Picturesque Canada: our Country—as it was and as it is." The best writers and authors have been employed, and the work in its entirety is promised to present a panorama of Canadian history and life, from Jacques Cartier's day to the present time.

"N. TRUBNER & Co.," says the London Book-seller, "announce the issue of a series of Grammars of the principal European and Oriental languages, constructed on an entirely new plan. The series may be regarded as an experiment, the success of which may lead to important changes in the method of studying languages. Hitherto, all grammars have been constructed on a single model, with arbitrary rules of comparison, which served only to point out irregularities and exceptions, to the constant perplexity of the student. In the new series, which is edited by Prof. E. H. Palmer, of Cambridge, the construction of each language is examined separately, and carefully explained in simple terms, without recourse to the formulæ, rules, classifications, and technicalities of the prevalent method of teaching grammar. The first volume, by the editor, contains grammars of Hindustani, Persian, and Arabic, and other volumes are in a forward state of preparation."

WILL PUBLISH DURING APRIL:

The Pettibone Name. A New England Story.

By MARGARET SIDNEY. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

The Pettibone Name is a bit of home fiction that ought to create an immediate and wide sensation. It is the first volume of the V I F series which it inaugurates in the brightest, freshest and most brilliant manner.

Some Young Heroines.

By PANSY. 12mo, cloth, illust. $1.00.

Heroines which have been moulded by Pansy in that mental and moral cast which has so long commended her books to every parent cannot fail to delight the readers of this book.

Rocky Fork.

By MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD. 12mo, illust., $1.50.

A sweet and merry new story for little women; and we commend it to such mothers as are growing anxious about the literary character of the books their young daughters read, for this is the work of an author who writes exquisite English, English as fragrant of the out-of-door world as Spencer's or Chaucer's.

Hunting and Trapping.

By CAPT. F. C. BARKER and J. S. DANFORTH. 12mo, illust., $1.00.

This journal of the popular Rangeley men who are well known as guides to thousands of tourists, reads like a story of Arctic exploration. It is a narrative of six months in winter camp right in the unbroken solitudes and snows of the northern-most Maine woods, and abounds with rifle, trap and snowshoe adventures among the moose, otter, beaver and caribou—animals that come to seem like human beings, so vivid is the description of their haunts and habits.

After the Freshet.

By REV. EDWARD A. RAND. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

It is unnecessary to say of any book of Mr. Rand's that it is bright, interesting or helpful; that may be taken for granted. He has painted a variety of characters, good and bad, in this work, all of which have a special mission to perform, and which will be traced with pleasure again and again, by many readers.

The Afterglow of European Travel.

By ADELAIDE L. HARRINGTON. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This pleasant record of experiences abroad will delight those who have gone over the same ground, as well as those who have never strayed beyond the bounds of their own country. It is a connected story of travel, and consists of a detailed description of those things which have made the most lasting impressions on the writers mind.

LATE EDITIONS OF

A FAMILY FLIGHT through France, Germany, Norway and Switzerland. By Rev. E. E. Hale and Miss SUSAN HALE. 1 vol., 8vo, extra cloth, tinted edges. 2.50

The first editions of this popular book were exhausted before Christmas. No work of travel for young folks, approaches this in the fascinating interest of the story and the real value of its 250 illustrations, while the names of the authors alone are a sufficient guarantee of high literary merit.

DANIEL WEBSTER: Life and Public Services. By JOSEPH BANVARD, D. D. 1 vol., 12mo, illust. 1.50

The recent centenary observations have brought to light many new facts and anecdotes of the great Statesman, which have been appended, and lend an increased value to this popular book.

AT EVENTIDE. By Rev. NEHEMIAH ADAMS, D. D. This new edition is enlarged by the addition of a Biographical Sketch of the Author, by the late Rev. WM. H. ADAMS. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth. 1.25

THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT; or, the New Birth. By Prof. AUSTIN PHELPS. Author of The Still Hour. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth. 1.25

"I cannot but hope that thinking men who do not own the Christian name will find here the way of Salvation, commended to them by the same intuitions and calm reasonings by which they are accustomed to judge of truth in other things."

FIFTY YEARS WITH THE SABBATH-SCHOOLS. By Rev. ASA BULLARD, A. M. 12mo, cloth. 1.25

The personal career of the author of this work is nearly coeval and parallel with the Sabbath-schools in this country, and entitles his views to the consideration of all interested in Sunday-school labor.

SHAKESPEARE'S COMPLETE WORKS. The Household Edition. Largest type 12mo edition in the market. Illustrated, bevelled boards. 2.00

It contains a critical biography by William Mitchell Rossetti, an Appendix and a copious Glossary.

LIFE OF JAMES A. GARFIELD. By E. E. BROWN. 12mo, steel Portrait and illustrations, cloth, 1.75. Cloth, gilt. 2.25

This latest edition of this popular life contains the eulogy of Ex-Secretary James G. Blaine, and also that of Hon. George F. Hoar, making it the most desirable life of Garfield offered to the trade.

DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE. By WILLIAM SMITH, LL. D. 1 vol., 8vo, Ruby cloth, imitation half binding. Fully illustrated. 2.00

PANSY'S SCRAP BOOK. (Former title The Teacher's Helper.) 12mo, illust. 1.00

NEW BOOKS PUBLISHED BY D. LOTHROP & COMPANY,

SINCE JANUARY 1, 1882.

I.

THE HALL IN THE GROVE. By PANSY. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth illustrated. 1.50

Of all of Pansy's stories this bids fair to be the most popular, as it deals with a subject in which tens of thousands are interested, and furnishes exact information regarding the Chautauqua educational movement.

II.

AROUND THE WORLD TOUR OF CHRISTIAN MISSIONS. A Universal Survey. By W. F. BAINBRIDGE. 1 vol., 8vo, cloth, 600 pages, with maps of prevailing religions and all leading mission stations. 2.00

Its undenominational character and freedom from partisan bias, increase its value as a manual from which all denominations may draw comfort and information.

III.

ROUND THE WORLD LETTERS. By LUCY S. BAINBRIDGE. 1 vol., 8vo, cloth, illustrated. 1.50

The letters are so sprightly and the scenes are so graphically portrayed, that the reader seems for a time to be transported to foreign shores, and stores of information, seldom accessible from so reliable a source, are developed.

IV.

CHERRY-BLOOMS OF YEDDO. By CLARA M. ARTHUR. Small quarto, handsomely illustrated, cloth, 1.25. Full gilt. 1.50

From the first poem, one is led by sweet cadences, up from the acres of Cherry Blossoms, which perfume Minkojina, to the very last with interest unflagging.

V.

THE TEMPLE REBUILT. A Poem. By FREDERIC R. ABBE. 1 vol., 16mo, cloth. 1.25

This epic is an exceedingly noble conception, and one which the author has wrought out with a prevailing fervor and real eloquence.

VI.

JOSEPHUS' (FLAVIUS) WORKS. Translated by WILLIAM WHISTON, M. A. 1 vol., crown, 8vo, with 100 illustrations, cloth, 3.00; sheep, 3.50; half calf. 5.00

This edition contains The Antiquities of the Jews; The Wars of the Jews; a Life of the Author, an Appendix and Marginal Notes, making it particularly valuable as a work of reference.

VII.

TO-DAYS AND YESTERDAYS. By CARRIE ADELAIDE COOK. Author of "From June to June." 12mo, cloth, illustrated. 1.25

This story describes very naturally, and in an interesting way, the ripening of character, and the broadening of life from the girlish forecastings to the last re-union of the schoolmates.

VIII.

CLASS OF '70. By HELENA V. MORRISON. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, illustrated. 1.25

This is a bright, sharp, aggressive book, whose author keenly appreciates the necessity for reform in church and society.

IX.

YENSIE WALTON'S WOMANHOOD. By MRS. S. R. GRAHAM CLARKE. 12mo, cloth, illust. 1.50

Nine out of ten Sunday-school scholars have read Yensie Walton, and will now trace with as great pleasure her development into womanhood. Here she is seen in a new home and under new conditions, filling the position of a governess, instilling those excellent mental and moral qualities into her pupils for which she herself is so admired. She closes with assuming the responsibilities of a wife and mother.

X.

GEORGE PEABODY: His Life and Princely Benevolence. By PHEBE A. HANAFORD. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, il. 1.50

The noble philanthropies of this man, and the trials and triumphs through which he was finally enabled to make them, will ever be of interest, and have been here presented in a peculiarly attractive form.

XI.

OUR SABBATH EVENING. Meditations in Prose and Verse. By A. A. HOPKINS. 16mo, cloth. 1.25

Few books of its kind appeal so strongly to the thoughtful or devotional reader, as this work. It is a volume which will be cordially welcomed by Christian readers.

XII.

POLLY'S SCHEME. By CORYDON. 12mo, cloth. 1.00

Polly's Scheme is one that has occurred to hundreds of weary city dwellers, when casting about to find ways and means to spend the summer months comfortably and profitably. The scheme is told in a humorous and breezy manner.

XIII.

FIVE FRIENDS. By PANSY. 12mo, cloth, illust. 1.00

Facts and incidents common to boyhood days are embraced in the experiences of the Five Friends, as told by Pansy, in that excellent moral tone for which she is noted, making an interesting and healthful book. This book was announced under the title of Eugene Cooper, but is now published as the Five Friends, the former title having already been copyrighted.

XIV.

HORACE GREELEY: His Life and editorial Success. By WILLIAM M. CORNELL, LL. D. 12mo, illust. 1.25

This life of the great journalist sets forth the facts in his career, the influences, political and otherwise of his period, and of his relations to the leading men and to the many great political movements during the long term of his editorial service.

XV.

ORIGINALITY. A reply to Wendell Phillips' "Lost Arts." By REV. ELIAS NASON. Cloth. .50

Mr. Nason does not believe that any of the useful arts have been lost — the Ancients had few to lose — and shows that there were more marvels of art displayed at the Centennial Exhibition, than in the ancient world for twenty centuries. The thousands who have listened with rapt attention to Mr. Phillips' eloquent presentation of his side of the question, will find equal pleasure in this charming essay.

XVI.

CHARLES DICKENS (Life and Writings of). By PHEBE A. HANAFORD. 12mo, cloth, illust. 1.50

A life of Dickens, written by a popular author and upon a new plan, will be sure to meet with favor at the hands of the public. Mrs. Hanaford has not attempted to write a critical and original analysis of the great author from her own point of view, but, while sketching the main incidents of his life, has quoted liberally from his works to illustrate his genius, and from the correspondence and writings of his personal friends, to show the estimation in which he was held by them as a man, a philanthropist and a Christian.

XVII.

FORTUNATE FAILURE (A). By CAROLINE B. LEROW. 12mo, illust. 1.25

The author of this charming book is widely known as a successful writer of magazine stories, and any thing from her pen is sure of a multitude of readers. In this volume her powers are shown at their best. The principal character is the sweet, bright and ambitious daughter of a New Hampshire farmer, who has been placed at boarding-school by a rich aunt, where her development is traced under the surrounding influences.

D. LOTHROP & CO., PUBLISHERS, 30 and 32 Franklin St., Boston, Mass.

SPRING ANNOUNCEMENT, 1882.

Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

Take pleasure in announcing that they have in press for publication during the coming season the following

NEW BOOKS.

AMERICAN STATESMEN.

A Series of Biographies of Men conspicuous in the Political History of the United States. Edited by JOHN T. MORSE, Jr. 16mo, cloth, per vol., $1.25.

The object of this series is not to give merely a number of unconnected narratives of men in American political life, but to produce books which shall, when taken together, indicate the lines of political thought and development in American history—books embodying in compact form the result of extensive study of the many and diverse influences which have combined to shape the political history of our country. The initial volume of the series, giving the life of JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, by John T. Morse, Jr., has already appeared, and has met with the heartiest reception. The following volumes will appear during the coming season:

ALEXANDER HAMILTON. By HENRY CABOT LODGE.

ANDREW JACKSON. By Professor WILLIAM G. SUMNER.

(Other volumes in preparation.)

AMERICAN MEN OF LETTERS.

Edited by CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER. 16mo, cloth, per volume, $1.25.

A series of biographies of distinguished American authors, having all the special interest of biography, and the larger interest and value of illustrating the different phases of American literature, the social, political, and moral influences which have moulded these authors and the generations to which they belonged.

Lives of WASHINGTON IRVING, by Warner, and NOAH WEBSTER, by Scudder, have already appeared. A Life of

by F. B. SANBORN, and possibly one other volume in the series, will appear during the spring.

ENGLISH AND SCOTTISH POPULAR BALLADS.

Edited by FRANCIS J. CHILD, Professor in Harvard University. An édition de luxe in imperial quarto, strictly limited to one thousand copies. Issued to subscribers only. Subscription price, $5 per part.

It is proposed in this edition to publish the English and Scottish Popular Ballads, so far as is possible, in their entirety and purity. The collection will embrace every accessible independent version of every ballad, with the important variations of copies which appear to be of the same proximate derivation. All the manuscript collections or texts that exist in public libraries, and most (it is hoped all) of those that are known to be in private hands, all printed texts, and also a certain number of copies recently obtained from recitation, will be combined.

The work will have a general introduction, full indexes and a careful glossary. It will be issued in about eight parts, each part containing nearly two hundred and fifty pages.

BRET HARTE'S COMPLETE WORKS. NEW EDITION.

A new and complete edition of the works of Mr. BRET HARTE, in five crown octavo volumes, printed from entirely new plates, small pica type, on excellent paper, and bound in the best and most tasteful style of the Riverside Press. Per volume, $2.

Already Published.

Vol. I. Poetical Works, and the dramatic piece, "Two Men of Sandy Bar," with an Introduction by the author, and a fine portrait on steel.

Vol. II. "The Luck of Roaring Camp," and other Stories.

To be Published during the Spring.

Vol. III. Tales of the Argonauts and Eastern Sketches.

Vol. IV. "Gabriel Conroy."

Vol. V. Stories and Condensed Novels.

NEW NOVELS BY BJÖRNSON.

Two new novels will be added to those already published in the American Edition of the Works of this favorite Norwegian author, namely :

THE FISHER MAIDEN and THE BRIDAL MARCH.

It is expected that these will only confirm the good impression already made on the public, by the previous novels of this author. The peculiar charm of Björnson's writing has been known in this country for some years, and any fresh work from his pen will find ready appreciation from his admirers, who as yet scarcely realize the range and variety of his stories.

AMERICAN CLASSICS FOR SCHOOLS. HAWTHORNE.

16mo, cloth, illustrated, 60 cents.

This is the second volume of the Series of American Classics for Schools, and consists of selections from Hawthorne's writings, for school use. It comprises a biographical sketch of the author, and also notes explaining the various personal and historical allusions. It is uniform with the initial volume of the Series (containing selections from Longfellow).

WHITTIER LEAFLETS.

Compiled by JOSEPHINE E. HODGDON. In pamphlet and leaflet form together, 60 cents; separately, 30 cents each.

These are in same style and form as the Longfellow and Holmes Leaflets, and have been compiled to satisfy the growing demand for an arrangement of Mr. Whittier's Poems adapted for school use. They are very fully illustrated.

AN ECHO OF PASSION.

By GEORGE PARSONS LATHROP. In one vol., 16mo, cloth.

Mr. Lathrop's latest story has attracted much attention during its serial publication in the Atlantic Monthly, and will shortly be issued in an attractive volume with a unique cover.

NOTABLE THOUGHTS ABOUT WOMEN.

Compiled by M. M. BALLOU, author of "A Treasury of Thought" and "Pearls of Thought." In 1 vol., crown 8vo.

This is a most interesting collection of the notable thoughts and sayings about women by writers of all nations, and of this and past generations. The compiler has shown a catholic spirit in making his selections, and has included many with the sentiments of which he does not personally agree, but which are striking and characteristic of their author or of the age in which they were written, so that the volume as a whole shows various shades and curious contrasts of opinions and judgments.

THE GIPSIES.

By CHARLES GODFREY LELAND, author of "Hans Breitmann's Ballads," "The Egyptian Sketch-Book," "The English Gipsies," etc. In 1 vol., crown 8vo.

Mr. Leland has long made a study of the Gipsies of this and other countries, and has enjoyed peculiar opportunities for pursuing his investigations. The present volume embodies the results of his studies and experiences here and abroad, and contains sketches of the American, English, Welsh, Austrian, Russian, and Eastern Gipsies, with chapters on the Origin, Names, and Characteristics of the Gipsies, and a great deal of curious and interesting matter beside.

A SATCHEL-GUIDE TO EUROPE.

Revised Edition for 1882. With Maps. 1 vol., roan, flexible, $2.

The Satchel Guide has long been admitted to be the best compact and comprehensive guide for vacation-tourists in Europe, and the demand for it increases every year.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD'S

NEW BOOKS.

1. Greek and Roman Sculpture. A popular Introduction to the History of Greek and Roman sculpture, designed to promote the Knowledge and Appreciation of the Remains of Ancient Art. By WALTER COPLAND PERRY. 1 vol., 8vo, 700 pp., with upward of 300 illustrations engraved on wood, $12.

"The aim of the author has been to supply the first step to the student of Greek and Roman sculpture; to set before the artist the principles by which the greatest masters in the greatest period of art were guided, and the influences to which they were subjected; to furnish the inexperienced amateur with the knowledge requisite to enable him to understand and appreciate the remains of ancient plastic art in the museums of his own and foreign countries; and lastly, to direct the attention of the student of ancient history to one of the most interesting and characteristic sides of Greek life, and to show him the intimate relation between Greek art and the religious, political, and social life of the Greek people."

2. A New Series of Hand-books of Practical Art. By HENRY B. WHEATLEY, F.S.A., Assistant Secretary, Society of Arts, and PHILIP HENRY DELAMOTTE, Professor of Drawing and Painting, and Lecturer on Practical Fine Art, King's College, London. Each Hand-book will be fully illustrated with colored plate and from 40 to 60 engravings, and will be carefully printed on toned paper. 8vo, cloth, $1.

1. ART-WORK IN EARTHENWARE. With colored frontispiece and 64 illustrations.

2. ART-WORK IN GOLD AND SILVER.—MEDÆVAL. With colored frontispiece and 40 illustrations.

The chief aim of this series of Hand-books of Practical Art is to bring to the notice of students and amateurs of art, as well as all lovers of the highest excellence in workmanship, numerous examples, both ancient and modern, of the application of beautiful design to articles of every-day use and to the various objects which are frequently employed or purposes of decoration.

Each Hand-book will contain an historical record of the progress of the art of which it treats, from the earliest times to the present, showing the distinctive characteristics of the respective periods; and will be illustrated with about forty to sixty engravings, which will include representations of many of the most remarkable specimens of industrial art that have been preserved to us, and which now adorn the national museums of Europe.

In making the selection, much care has been taken to include only those works that are noteworthy either for the elegance of their form or the beauty of their ornamentation; although a few objects have been chosen for their historical interest, and for the purpose of showing the style of art prevalent at the time in which they were made.

3. Paris Herself Again, in 1878-79. By GEORGE AUGUSTUS SALA. New and cheaper edition, with 350 illustrations by Bertall, Cham, etc. 1 vol., post 8vo, 600 pages, $2.25.

CONFESSIONS OF A FRIVOLOUS GIRL.

By Robert Grant. 1 vol., 16mo, $1.25.

IN THE DISTANCE.

By George Parsons Lathrop. 1 vol., 16mo, $1.25.

"Scene, character, surroundings, atmosphere, are chosen with refined insight for the working out of the novelist's purpose. Love is the beginning, and love is the end. The intermediate action is adorned with all the vivacity of vivisection that characterizes James or Howells, while the humor is as delicate and pervading as theirs. Indeed, there are passages of the narrative with humor, pathos, and introspections sustained upon a wing so strong that the reader is startled by reminiscences of the power-flight of Hawthorne's fancy, not less than his limpid and entrancing expression."—Philadelphia Press.

"Such as it is, with its pleasantly written and gossiping histories, and its profuse array of illustrations, this volume will find universal acceptance, and is worthy of the pains which have been bestowed upon it."—The Nation.

THE HORSE IN MOTION.

As shown in a series of views, by instantaneous photography, with a Study of Animal Mechanics. By J. D. B. Stillman, M.D., A.M. With a Preface by Leland Stanford. $10.

"Of the scientific value of these investigations there can be little doubt. They seem to us to have definitely settled certain facts concerning animal locomotion which previous investigators had misapprehended or had failed to establish. The experiments must have been extremely costly, but we do not see how they could have been made at less expense. It is very fortunate that this line of research was undertaken by a gentleman whose means admitted of its prosecution to a successful conclusion. And, further, in our opinion he has done more to deserve the thanks of all genuine lovers of the horse than if from his stables had gone out the winners of the Derby and the Grand Prize of Paris."—N. Y. Tribune.

Invite the attention of the Trade to their list of popular Novels and Miscellaneous Works.
Not contributing to any "Trade Sale" this year, they are prepared to offer special terms on quantities of their publications.

NEW EDITIONS NOW READY OF

HAMMOCK SERIES, NO. 1.

"NO GENTLEMEN." The brightest, most readable and entertaining novel of the season. 12mo, 348 pp., handsomely bound in cloth, $1.

"We are soon amused, interested and charmed. Belonging to the class of stories popularly called 'bright,' and published judiciously at the opening of the season of hammocks and piazzas, it is far more readable than most of its kind. The plot is not too much of a plot for a legitimate New England story, and the conversation of 'Jabe' is racy enough to make us forget that we were tired of Yankee dialect, as treated by Mrs. Stowe and Mrs. Whitney. Indeed the book is thoroughly enjoyable."—The Critic (N. Y.).

HAMMOCK SERIES, NO. 2.

BARBERINE: The Story of a Woman's Devotion. A Novel. 12mo, 365 pp., cloth, with gold and black stamps, $1.

"No one can begin this story without reading it to the end, for there is not a page at which the interest flags, and it is almost impossible not to feel that 'Barberine' was a woman of history, and not of fiction."—N. Y. Herald.

"The plot has to do with a Russian Nihilist conspiracy, and there is enough love, murder, and politics to furnish material for half a dozen novels."—Boston Evening Transcript.

WE, VON ARLDENS. A New Novel by Miss DOUGLAS. 12mo, 487 pp., illustrated, cloth, side and back stamp, retail price, $1.25.

"'We, Von Arldens,' is a novel which cannot fail to become exceedingly popular with that portion of our people who find in a well-written romance the necessary gold to give a gilt-edged finish to such aspirations as may give a new pleasure to existence."—Albany Post.

HER BRIGHT FUTURE. A brilliant story of American life, drawn from fact and fiction. 12mo, cloth, 309 pp., $1.

"In many respects this is a strong story."—Evening Journal (Chicago).

"Spiritually written."—Gazette (Cincinnati).

ODETTE'S MARRIAGE. From the French of ALBERT DELPIIT. 12mo, cloth, elegant side and back stamps, $1.

"The story is told with cleverness, and there is an intensity of interest in it which only very cleverly told dramatic stories have."—N. Y. Evening Post.

A PECULIAR PEOPLE. By Rev. W. S. BALCH. An elegant 12mo vol. of 458 pages, handsomely bound in cloth, $1.25.

"The recital throughout is spirited, and the book as a whole is one that may be read with pleasure, for the information it imparts and for the profitable reflections to which it gives rise."—Saturday Eve. Gazette (Boston).

A NEW "HAMMOCK SERIES" NOVEL,

READY APRIL 22.

"COLLEN RUE." By TOLER KING. 12mo of about 360 pp., $1.

"Collen Rue" will be an attractive story of the higher classes of Ireland and England. The plot is well laid, and the book written in a most attractive manner.

May 20th we will issue in our "Hammock Series" a new story by the author of "No Gentlemen," of a very high order, entitled

"A SANE LUNATIC." It will make a handsome 12mo of some 400 pp., and will be sold at $1.

The success which "No Gentlemen" received warrants us in saying that "A Sane Lunatic" will prove the most popular novel of the summer.

Advance orders solicited.

THE LIFE OF JESUS CHRIST. By JAMES STALKER, M.A., with introduction by Rev. GEO. C. LORIMER, D.D. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth limp, 60 cents.

"It is designed as a hand-book for Bible Classes, and fills a niche left vacant by all its predecessors."—Christian Instructor.

"Concise, brief, and attractive in style. The style is excellent."—Christian Advocate (Cincinnati).

"The task is admirably performed. We have been charmed with the author's skill in presenting so briefly, yet so satisfactorily, such a view of the surroundings and the teachings and the doings of Jesus. It is a book that we can heartily recommend."—Christian Standard.

SUCCESS IN LIFE, AND HOW TO SECURE IT; or, Elements of Manhood and their Culture, copiously illustrated by incidents from the lives of eminent men. By WILLIAM D. OWEN. With illustrations. Octavo, 533 pp., elegantly bound in cloth, with gold and black side and back stamps, $2.50.

WM. SHAKESPEARE'S COMPLETE Works. Sumner's Popular Edition. Comprising his Plays and Poems with Dr. Johnson's preface. A Glossary, an account of each play, and a memoir of the author, by the Rev. WM. HARNES, M.A. of Christ's College, Cambridge, and Minister of St. Pancras' Parochial Chapel, Regent Square. Embellished with a Portrait from the celebrated Chandos Picture, engraved on steel, and numerous other full-page illustrations by Gilbert. Octavo, 1100 pp., sheep, marbled edges, $3.50; cloth, $2.50.

WINSOME CHRISTIANITY. By the Rev. RICHARD GLOVER, M.A., Vicar of St. Luke's, West Holloway, London. Square 16mo, 304 pp., $1.

"The subject is one which might have tempted him to go further in concession to the world, but this danger has been carefully and conscientiously avoided, and the book is therefore to be commended."—The Churchman.

"The object of this little book is truly commendable, for the author desires his fellow-Christians to make their religion more attractive by showing how intrinsically lovely and engaging it is."—Christian Union.

NEW EDITIONS.

WINIFRED BERTRAM, and the World she Lived in. By the author of "Chronicles of Schönberg Cotta Family." 12mo, cloth, red edges, 384 pp., $1.25.

HEAVEN AND HOME. A book for the fireside. By Rev. J. MARSHALL LANG, D.D., of Barony Parish Church, Glasgow. 12mo, cloth, $1.

The Evangelist, New York, says: "We should hardly know where to find another book so replete with profitable suggestions for a Christian family as this little volume."

The N. Y. Observer says: "These words are Scriptural, simple, strong, personal, practical, appealing to the domestic sentiments and the highest instincts. They are the words of one who knows the mind of God in His Word, and the need of the human heart in the labors of the ministry."

The Guardian, of New York, says: "Dr. Lang's 'Heaven and Home' is a very rare book. . . . There are multitudes of people to whom this volume will prove a choice treasure of the heart."

The Congregationalist says: "Practical, earnest, and devout, touching lightly but effectively almost every point which a good man thinks of naturally, when he tries to teach others how to gain and keep the spirit of Heaven in the homes of Earth."

JUST PUBLISHED:

Belgian Days.

By KATE BYAM MARTIN. 12mo, 239 pages, $1.

The author of this work is an American lady who, during an extended residence in Belgium, had quite exceptional opportunities for studying the social and domestic life of that little-known and very peculiar country. The work is in story-form, but contains a series of sketches and pictures made from life, which give it a fresh and lively interest.

OTHER NEW BOOKS:

Hon. E. B. Washburne's Sketch of Edward Coles,

Second Governor of Illinois, and of the Slavery Struggle of 1823-24. With portrait and facsimile letters. 8vo, $1.75.

"The story here related is important and interesting alike on personal and historical grounds, and eminently worthy of permanent record."—The Nation.

Miss Ella Wheeler's Maurine and Other Poems.

12mo, $1.50.

"This volume of song is as sweet and fresh as the airs that drift across the prairie blossoms amid which they were sung. Its unpretending charm touches the heart, and its deep feeling stirs the soul."—Home Journal, N. Y.

Hauff's Tales of the Caravan, Inn, and Palace.

Translated from the German by EDWARD L. STOWELL. 12mo. With the original illustrations. $1.25.

"They evince vivid imagination, and are so original as to be almost unique. They have long been recognized as among the most fascinating of their kind of writing."—Sat. Eve. Gazette, Boston.

ENGLISH LITERATURE:

Familiar Talks on English Literature.

By ABBY SAGE RICHARDSON. Large 12mo, $2.

"The work is without question one of the best of its kind with which we are acquainted; if for no other reason, because it has in greater measure than usual the capacity to interest the young readers, for whom it is intended."—Evening Post, N. Y.

Music-Study in Germany.

By MISS AMY FAY. 12mo, $1.25.

"They are charming letters, both in style and matter, and the descriptions of Tausig, Cullak, Liszt, and Deppe, with each of whom Miss Fay studied, are done with all the delicacy of a sketch by Meissonnier."—Globe, Boston.

The Golden Poems.

GOLDEN POEMS BY BRITISH AND AMERICAN AUTHORS. Edited by FRANCIS F. BROWNE. Crown 8vo. Full gilt, richly bound, $2.50.

"'Golden Poems' deserve a place among the best collections that have been made for popular use."—Boston Advertiser.

"I am charmed to see how well you have proved that there was room for still another volume of poetical selections. I shall keep your book hereafter within reach; for it is pleasant to see, easy to hold, and refreshing to read."—Prof. Moses Coit Tyler to Editor.

"The most beautiful and the most happy selection of poems that we have had the good fortune to fall in with."—Buffalo Express.

"On the whole there is no issue of the present season which will lead the poetry-loving reader over wider or more delightful fields."—Cincinnati Gazette.

"It is clearly the best edited selection and arrangement of the shorter and more familiar poems in our language that has yet appeared."—Chicago Advance.

"The best popular collection, so far as scope, compactness, and literary worth are concerned, within reach of the public."—Boston Traveller.

"It is a beautiful book; I find many things in it that I did not know, and am glad to have for future reference."—Richard Henry Stoddard to Editor.

"It occupies a peculiar place among poetical anthologies, a place that has not hitherto been as well filled, and it is in some respects an improvement upon many of the larger and more pretentious works of its kind. Without aspiring to the fulness of the larger collections and rising above the narrowness of range of the smaller works, this volume occupies a middle position, and will, unless we are very much mistaken, meet with an extended and appreciative popular reception."—Post, Boston.

Golden Thoughts

From the Words of Leading Orators, Divines, Philosophers, Statesmen, and Poets. By Rev. S. P. LINN, author of "Living Thoughts of Leading Thinkers." Crown 8vo. Full gilt, richly bound, $2.50.

"Its contents are truly golden thoughts. They consist of the choicest possible selections from the writings of the best authors all over the world. . . . Among all the volumes of the kind, we remember to have seen none containing nobler, choicer thoughts than this."—Cincinnati Commercial.

"The selections are made with rare taste and judgment. They show a wide range of reading and a wonderful knack of selecting the few pregnant words which convey the thought of an essay or a speech."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"The book is a mirror of wisdom, a storehouse of truth, a concentration of the intellectual rays that have lightened the pathway of mankind."—Living Church.

"This elegant book is alike exquisite in its contents and in its mechanical make-up. The thoughts are above those of the average gleaner. They, too, are from fresher sources than most books of selections."—Phila. National Baptist.

"It is a rich gleaming, and although much of the treasure is old, it is of the kind which never depreciates."—N. Y. Home Journal.

"We have read many of these golden gleams of thought with much inward delight. Few expressions are more compact and true than this from the poet Southey: 'It is with words as with sunbeams; the more they are condensed the deeper they burn.' The volume before us is the choice fruit of the finest intellects. And through the whole these intellectual suns sparkle and glow and burn."—The Boston Golden Rule.

"If I could have had it when I commenced the study and practice of medicine it would have saved me several years of labor, and have added so much to my life."—FRANK H. HAMILTON.

"If it should prove successful, we shall have good reason to form a higher estimate of medical scholarship in this country than has hitherto been entertained."—ALFRED STILLÉ.

"If such a publication of signal utility to inquirers in all parts of the world is allowed to collapse for the want of the few hundreds necessary to secure its continuance, an opportunity will be lost not very likely to recur. All our energies should be turned toward securing the continuation of the Index Medicus."—LANCET (London).

"To the literature of the profession the INDEX is an immense necessity—a necessity which has never before been met, so that our medical force has been wasted, and our medical literature has been left weak and imperfect. Surely every prosperous doctor can afford six dollars a year for the development of his science, for the building up of the greatest charity in the world—the medical profession. . . . Let all physicians, who can, subscribe; let them see that their societies aid in the work; let them insist that the public libraries of their respective towns and cities take each a copy; and the enterprise will move hereafter easily and steadily along the grooves of habitual prosperity."—MEDICAL TIMES (Phila.).

INDEX MEDICUS.

A MONTHLY CLASSIFIED RECORD OF THE CURRENT MEDICAL LITERATURE OF THE WORLD.

COMPILED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF

DR. JOHN S. BILLINGS, Surg., U. S. A., and DR. ROBERT FLETCHER, M.R.C.S., England.

FOURTH YEAR OF PUBLICATION.

In announcing the continuation of the INDEX MEDICUS for 1882, the publisher is obliged to renew his earnest appeal to the entire Medical Profession to sustain him in an undertaking which is acknowledged to be of such practical value to the progress of medical literature, and which has already secured the highest encomiums from the press and the profession, both in America and Europe. Although steadily gaining ground the INDEX MEDICUS is not only far from returning to the editors and the publisher any adequate remuneration, but is, to some extent, still dependent on private contributions for a deficiency in the total returns which should be easily covered by bona fide subscriptions.

The INDEX MEDICUS records the titles of all new publications in Medicine, Surgery, and the collateral branches, received during the preceding month. These are classed under subject, headings and followed by the titles of valuable original articles upon the same subject, found during the like period, in medical journals and transactions of medical societies. The periodicals thus indexed comprise all current medical journals and transactions of value, so far as they can be obtained.

In the INDEX MEDICUS the practitioner will find the titles of parallels for his anomalous cases, accounts of new remedies, and the latest methods in therapeutics; the teacher will observe what is being written or taught by the masters of his art in all countries; and the author will be enabled to add the latest views and cases to his forthcoming work, or to discover where he has been anticipated by other writers.

The INDEX MEDICUS is published monthly, and supplements all the leading medical journals (American and foreign) as a current guide and general index to all.

Subscription price per annum, postage prepaid, for United States and Canada, $6. Sample copies sent free on application. The addresses of probable subscribers are desired from the friends of the enterprise.

For subscriptions abroad, address Messrs. TRÜBNER & Co., 57 Ludgate Hill, London, or Mr. K. F. KOEHLER, Poststrasse, 16, Leipzig.

EDITORIAL AND PROFESSIONAL ENDORSEMENTS.

"Notwithstanding the completeness of such a work as the Index Catalogue (of the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office, U. S. A.), it is quite evident that the weekly and monthly increase of medical literature is constantly rendering it more and more defective, so that, before many years are over, it would, to a great extent, have lost the value which it now possesses, and a new edition would be imperatively required. In order to supplement this work, and to prevent the inconvenience which would constantly increase as time went on, Dr. BILLINGS, in conjunction with Dr. FLETCHER, have started a new periodical, the INDEX MEDICUS. This gives the names of authors and the titles of all new medical books under their appropriate subjects, and also complete references to current periodical medical literature. The labor involved in the preparation of such an index as this is very great indeed, and the expense of issuing it is very considerable. A large number of subscribers is therefore required. We believe that at present its circulation is not nearly so great as its merits demand, so much so that we believe it is published at a loss, and, unless more support is met with, it may require to be discontinued. To medical men whose time is fully occupied with practice, and who have neither inclination nor leisure to write, the INDEX MEDICUS would be of no direct service, and they might think it a waste of money to subscribe to it. And yet such would not be the case, for the existence of such an index enables those who have the time and inclination to write, to become fully acquainted with all the literature bearing upon the subjects which they treat. The INDEX MEDICUS therefore becomes, indirectly, of great benefit to those who have time for reading only. It will be a calamity to the profession if this work be allowed to be discontinued for want of the support which it deserves, and we therefore hope that not only those to whom it will be of immediate use will subscribe to it, but many others who will derive from it only the indirect advantage to which we have alluded."—The Practitioner (London).

"Truly a chef-d'œuvre of medical bibliography and unique of its kind."—Journal d'Hygiène (Paris).

"No author or writer can, without great loss of time, dispense with the aid of this useful monthly."—Deutsches Archiv für Geschichte der Medizin (Leipzig).

"We have no hesitation in saying that this journal is the most valuable contribution to medical science of the present century."—Glasgow Sanitary Journal.

"Its discontinuance would be almost a calamity for every intelligent student and practitioner of medicine. . . . It is a marvel of accuracy and completeness."—Lancet (London).

"An index of inestimable value. . . . We tender our best thanks to the editors and the enterprising publisher for opening up so valuable a literary mine."—Medical Press and Circular (London).

"We do not see how any one can afford to be without this journal. It is a necessity, not only to those who are teachers, but to the busy practitioner everywhere."—The Medical Record (New York).

"It is the result of great and continuous labor and research, and supplies a very valuable and useful index to the current medical literature of all the departments of medicine."—Med. Times and Gazette (London).

"We consider the 'Index-Catalogue of the Surgeon-General's Library,' as well as the INDEX MEDICUS, absolutely indispensable to every person interested in medical literature."—Gazette Hebdomadaire de Méd. et de Chir. (Paris).

"The amount of information to be derived from a mere perusal of such a periodical can hardly be realized by one who is not familiar with the refinements to which this business of cataloguing has been carried. It is useful and interesting to everybody, whether he be a 'bookworm' or not."—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

"The magnitude of the plan arouses our admiration. No medical opinion can now escape notice, no published analogous cases be overlooked. Let us welcome the gigantic enterprise which, in presenting a universal survey of medical study, must necessarily further the general progress of medical science."—Corresp.-Blatt f. Schweizer Aerzte (Basel).

"Although Germany has, for forty years, been in possession of two similar publications (Schmidt's Jahrbücher, and Canstatt's, now Virchow & Hirsch's Jahresberichte), they cannot be compared with the INDEX MEDICUS, which, in bibliographical completeness, has far surpassed both. What heretofore has been presented by our German bibliographers as current medical literature in toto, embraced in reality only the principal publications of France, Germany, and England. . . . The work is indeed, indispensable to every conscientious and truly scientific writer in every branch of medicine."—Med.-Chir. Centralblatt (Vienna).

"I have found the 'Index' of infinite assistance in my work."—T. M. MARKOE, M.D., New York.

"In every way command my name and influence as ardently endorsing this new and scholarly enterprise."—S. WEIR MITCHELL, M.D., Philadelphia.

"I am delighted with the INDEX MEDICUS, and sincerely trust that it will be a permanency. The work is very able and faithfully done, and in the best of hands. That it fills a want long and sorely felt in the medical profession no one who is engaged in literary work can doubt. The regret is that it was not instituted a quarter of a century ago."—T. GAILLARD THOMAS, M.D., New York.

"I do not find words to tell you how much I value your INDEX MEDICUS. If I could have had it when I commenced the study and practice of medicine it would have saved me several years of labor, and have added so much to my life. To any medical student it is economy of time and of money, nor can I see how it can be improved."—FRANK H. HAMILTON, M.D., New York.

"If any publication in the country deserves well of the profession, the INDEX does. It cannot be that American medical men do not read, nor care to keep up with the times. It is difficult to believe that our doctors have so little national or professional pride as to let a publication die for want of support, which does so much honor to them and to the country."—W. STURGES BIGELOW, M.D., Boston.

"It is simply a necessity for every student of medical literature, for every medical teacher, even for every medical practitioner who wishes to keep abreast with the progress of his art. We have in it, done once and for every one in the most thorough manner, that which heretofore it has been necessary for thousands to attempt to do separately, at a vast expense of time and trouble. I shall be a permanent subscriber."—WILLIAM PEPPER, M.D., Philadelphia.

"The INDEX MEDICUS will be of great service both to medical authors and to all who have occasion (and what intelligent professional physician does not?) to consult files of journals for half-forgotten facts or to make exhaustive study of any special medical topic. At the present day medical journals are of more importance to the physician who seeks to be up with the times than medical text-books; an index of this kind becomes, therefore, the most desirable luxury."—GEO. M. BEARD, M.D., New York.

"It offers on a larger scale, and with more system, a very similar catalogue of references to one which I have kept for many years to assist me in my own medical studies and writings, and without which whatever little I have done as an author and teacher would have been impossible. . . . If it shall prove successful, we shall have good reason to form a higher estimate of medical scholarship in this country than has hitherto been entertained. It will afford me great pleasure—indeed, I shall hold it to be a duty—to commend this publication wherever an opportunity to do so presents itself."—ALFRED STILLÉ, M.D., Philadelphia.

The Publishers' Weekly.

This journal, an independent representative of the American book and kindred interests, is issued weekly from 13 and 15 Park Row, New York, at $3.20 per year, including postage.

Its bibliographical department includes a weekly full-title record of all new American publications, with notes after the title descriptive of the book—a new and most important feature, of practical value to all who use books; monthly finding lists, by authors, titles, and subjects, preceded by a classified summary; lists of the most prominent English and French publications; bibliographical cues to timely topics; and numerous special lists, as the Educational Catalogue. This department is the central feature of the paper, and makes it an indispensable aid to the trade, to libraries, and to literary people. It is believed that no other journal, here or abroad, supplies as practical and satisfactory a record of the publications of its country.

Its literary department includes comprehensive intelligence as to books forthcoming and publishing movements, at home and abroad, gathered with the aid of representatives in other cities; editorial discussions on book and trade subjects, as copyright and postal questions, etc.; original contributions and representative extracts on like topics; besides the usual matter of a class journal.

The subscription of all interested in books is solicited, and sample copies will be sent on application. The addresses of persons interested in book matters are requested.

This journal, in view of the quality of its circulation, and its constant use for daily reference, furnishes, it is believed, the best medium for reaching the book, stationery, and like trades. Advertisements are received at $18 per page; 20 cents per line; terms for repeated insertions on application; Books Wanted, or for Exchange, or Rare and Second-hand Books for Sale, 10 cents per line; Situations Wanted, free insertion of five lines. THE ST. CLAIR PAPERS. The Life and Public Services of Arthur St. Clair, Soldier of the Revolutionary War. President of the Continental Congress, and Governor of the North-western Territory. With his Correspondence and other Papers. Arranged and annotated. By Hon. WM. HENRY SMITH, of Chicago. 2 vols., 8vo, with two portraits and a map, $6.

The author makes conspicuous the genius, ability, patriotism, and courage of St. Clair, heretofore unjustly neglected by historians; adds new interest to the brilliant exploits on the Delaware in the winter of 1776-7, and for the first time places before the reader a complete account of the evacuation of Ticonderoga and Mount Independence in July, 1777, which resulted in the capture of Burgoyne and his army. He corrects errors committed by previous historians, and, on controverted points, presents new views drawn from hitherto unpublished materials.

MORGAN'S SHAKSPEARIAN MYTH. The Shakspearian Myth; or, William Shakspeare and Circumstantial Evidence. By APPLETON MORGAN, A.M., LL.B., Author of "Law of Literature," Notes to Best's "Principles of Evidence," etc., etc. 12mo, cloth, $2.

"Such works can be read only as strange examples of entertaining paradox, but we must say that in the present instance the paradox is well worked out and cleverly sustained; and persons, who in this age teeming with works worth attention from educated men have leisure for such amusements, may occupy some hours profitably in studying the theory of the 'Shakspearian Myth.'"—London Saturday Review.

BUTTERFIELD'S DISCOVERY OF THE NORTHWEST. The Discovery of the Northwest in 1634, by John Nicolet, with a sketch of his life. By C. W. BUTTERFIELD, Author of "Crawford's Campaign," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.

"The book is a complete and exhaustive account of the life and explorations of Nicolet, amply fortified by citations from the original authorities and provided with a good index."—The Evening Post, N. Y.

HENSHALL'S BOOK OF THE BLACK BASS. Book of the Black Bass; comprising its complete Scientific and Life History, together with a Practical Treatise on Angling and Fly-Fishing, with a full account of Tools, Implements, and Tackle. By Dr. JOHN A. HENSHALL. 12mo, illustrated, cloth, $3.

W. D. GALLAGHER'S POEMS. "Miami Woods," "A Golden Wedding on the Rolling Fork of Hardin," "In Excelsis," "Life Pictures," and "Miscellaneous Poems." By WILLIAM D. GALLAGHER. 12mo, cloth, $2.

"It is fully time that Mr. Gallagher's audience should be induced to take in all lovers of poetry. Mr. Gallagher is a true poet, a man with a spirit subdued yet vivified by the ideal, and not one of those unhappy ones who are cursed with an aspiration."—Philadelphia American.

HART'S ANGLO-SAXON LITERATURE. A Syllabus of Anglo-Saxon Literature. By Prof. J. M. HART, of the Cincinnati University. 8vo, paper, 50 cents.

"Prof. Hart's short sketch may be recommended as, on the whole, the best introduction to old English Literature that is accessible to the English reader."—London Academy.

JOHN INGLESANT: A Romance. By J. H. Shorthouse.

"One of the memorable books of the year will be 'John Inglesant.' The author terms it—dreading, perhaps, to hear it called an historical novel—a philosophical romance; but, whether considered as philosophy or as romance, it is alike remarkable. As philosophy, it is a wonderfully clear exposition, not only of the Catholic Church, but of the differences of belief in a church which professes that it can have no differences of belief; as a romance, it is thrillingly interesting; and as history, it illuminates the time in which the scene is laid—that of Charles I.—as fine acting illuminates a play of Shakespeare."—The Critic.

"An interesting and remarkable book."—Saturday Review.

"It is one of the most remarkable books, not only of the season, but of a good many seasons."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"History, romance, and philosophy, Mr. Shorthouse has managed to blend them in one harmonious whole."—The Spectator.

"This is one of the notable books of the day."—Christian Union.

HYPATIA; or, New Foes with an Old Face. By Charles Kingsley.

WESTWARD HO! or, The Voyages and Adventures of Sir Amyas Leigh, Knight. By Charles Kingsley.

"We consider 'Westward Ho!' and 'Hypatia' as the greatest historical novels produced in this century; and the fact that they represent respectively ages so distant from each other and so unlike, and the fact that they are nevertheless so truthful, shows that Kingsley was a master in this kind of literature."—Churchman.

HOGAN, M.P. A Novel. By the Author of "Flitters, Tatters, and the Counsellor," etc., etc.

"Besides their very high merits as novels, Miss Laffan's writings shed more real light upon the condition of Ireland than the official reports. In fact, her novels form a document of the first value to any reader who wishes to understand the social condition from which agrarian outrages arise."—New York World.

EASTER CARDS FOR 1882.

We take pleasure in announcing to the trade that we are now ready with an elegant line of Easter Cards in great variety, and comprising many novelties in designs and make-up.

The prices range from 4 cents to $4 each, retail, and the designs embrace Flowers, Figures, Scenes, etc. Among the contributing artists to this year's selection we may mention:

THOMAS MORAN,

Miss FIDELIA BRIDGES,

Mrs. O. E. WHITNEY,

Miss L. B. HUMPHREYS, and Miss ROSINA EMMET.

The line comprises also a new edition of last year's Easter Dove, which was so popular that we were not able to supply the demand.

The Cards are made up in the usual styles of single card, double card, single-fringed and double-fringed card, and some on heavy mounts.

We call particular attention to No. 518 F Extra, a series of two designs by THOMAS MORAN, entitled "The Sun of Righteousness" and "The New Jerusalem," two elegant Cards, which are most elaborately trimmed with a combination of silk, silk cord and tassels, and silk fringe of new fancy pattern. We have also ready to which we desire to call the attention of the trade.

A NEW AND HANDSOME LINE OF BIRTHDAY CARDS,

The usual discount to the trade.
